Steamer Day and its Peculiarities—Rainy Weather—The Colorado Expedition—The Steamer Uncle Sam in a Storm—United States Property Thrown Overboard.

From Our Own Correspondent.

San Francisco, Wednesday, Feb. [illegible], 1859.

The Golden Age takes her departure this afternoon at 4 o'clock, instead of Monday, as is usually the rule when steamer-day falls on Sunday. The [illegible]

[illegible] operations, and there has been no travel except in stage boats, India-rubber coats, and umbrellas. The ladies could not get out, and balls and parties have been postponed till the first fair night—except one, which was the party of the season, given by our esteemed citizen R. J. Vandewater, a few evenings since, composed of the crème de la crème of San Francisco Society, I might say of the first water, for it poured down a part of the evening; but it don't seem to make much difference whether it rains or not—everybody goes to their delightful gatherings, and wouldn't miss them on any account. I would write out a full account of it, à la Saratoga and Newport, did it not seem too much on the Jenkins' order. Suffice it to say, that judges, senators, authors, (we have authors in California,) poets and painters, were there, and the display of crinoline would have been approved in Fifth-avenue. In fact, our ladies ask no favors of that thoroughfare, and won't thank its denizens for their patronizing approval. They can, and do, dress as well, if not better—are not dependent on them for the fashions—have their Madame Crinolini's and Malgreen's "from Paris" with the last new folly. Eugénie bonnets, and all the little auxiliary charms fresh by every steamer. I think no man or woman of any taste could have found fault with the ladies or their dresses on the occasion referred to. It was a delightful party, and Vandewater is entitled to a diploma and gold medal on the chicken salad question.

There was a slight shock of an earthquake during the evening, but nobody at the party knew anything of it until reading the papers next morning, as they had a patent earthquake of their own. Every window in the house was responding to the lively movements of Billy Bott's patent leathers in the rush ian polka.

The Expedition to the Colorado, under the command of Col. Hoffman, of which I spoke in my last, was dispatched on the 11th, in the steamer Uncle Sam. They had scarcely proceeded fifty miles on their voyage before they encountered a terrible southeast gale, which raised a heavy sea, and being deeply loaded, made rather bad weather of it. While the gale was at its height, one of the wheel-ropes or rudder-chains broke, and the ship fell off into the trough of the sea, and while in this position a heavy sea boarded her, crushing in the pilot-house, upper deck, and rushing down into the hold. She scarcely rose a foot to the next sea, which the captain perceiving, gave immediate orders to lighten the ship. The officers mustered their men, and after putting over twenty tons of coal, commenced on the commissary and quartermaster's stores; pack-saddles, tents, tent-poles, pork, flour, and barley, soon followed, and a lot of cartridge and ammunition—(enabling Davy Jones to have a shot in his locker if he likes.) In the darkness several of the officers' trunks went over, and the order was given to put over the two hundred mules on deck. The poor animals seemed to have an idea of their danger and opposed every effort, jammed in as they were, and it was found almost impossible to get the first over. One poor little fellow nearest the gangway was thrown over, but just then the ship was got around and the order countermanded. They headed for port and got in next morning—came into the wharf, damages were repaired. The Quartermaster's Department had men working night and day and all Sunday making more pack saddles, and the ship finally sailed again on the 16th with everything in order, but as if the fates were against her it came on to blow harder than ever that night, and the pilots reported terrible weather outside. She probably got into Monterey and rode out the gale, if not, it is more than likely that the poor mules have at last met the fate they so narrowly escaped before.

As evidence of the dangerous position of the ship, it was stated that after the sea boarded her the water in the engine room was up to the waists of the firemen, who never flinched from their duty, but fired up until every inch of steam she could bear was put on. The officers on board speak in glowing terms of Capt. Huntington and the officers of the ship, as well as of the ship herself; they say she never gave a groan or a creak, but stood up to her work nobly. It was a providential escape, and it is to be hoped that they have all reached San Diego safely, where the mules are to be disembarked.

John Freeman has sent me word that Freeman & Co.'s Express bag will close in five minutes, and the Times man had better hurry up the items, or the document would be left. Now to have it left would not be right—and as John Freeman is generally considered a man of his word, I shouldn't wonder if he closed that bag, if I don't hurry up. Want of time has cut the Times readers out of a lot of very interesting items—a sore loss to them, but they must bear it as well as they can, and wait until the next steamer arrives. And so mote it be.

Miscellaneous.

A terrible storm had occurred in the Pacific, which caused great destruction of shipping property. The steamer Uncle Sam returned to San Francisco Feb. 12, having been driven back. It was found necessary to throw overboard about $30,000 worth of property to lighten the vessel.

A letter from Los Angeles says: "A great many Mormon buyers, with teams, are reported to be on their way hither after goods. About 40 of them arrived at San Bernardino a few days ago. Domestics, such as Merrimac prints, Kentucky jeans, drillings, and similar classes of goods, are in greatest demand. Indeed, it is said that the wants of the Saints cannot be supplied, for the goods are not to be had, and the speculators buy up the market; and so now, as often as heretofore, an increased activity in various articles may be noted, with an upward tendency. [illegible]

The Los Angeles Vineyard adds: The principal cause of the great increase of trade through our city, is owing to the fact that it is becoming known by men engaged in introducing goods into Utah, that goods can be taken over this route with less expense, and with less risk, and in less time, than over any other route.

Since the 1st of January there have left this city about sixty wagons loaded with goods for that market. [illegible]

SANDWICH ISLANDS.

A vessel arrived at the Sandwich Islands reports that absolute possession has been taken of Johnson's Island by a force from San Francisco, acting for the Pacific Guano Company, and improvements were in progress with a view to the commencement of shipping of guano. The Advertiser of the 21 December says: [illegible]

The Honolulu Advertiser prefaces the following [illegible]

[illegible] communication with remarks implying that the course pursued by the Russian cruiser is in violation of treaty stipulations:

"Ayan, Ochotsk Sea, Oct. 1, 1858.—There has been some difficulty this season between the French whale ships and Russian brig Constantine. It originated in an attempt on the part of the captain of the brig to force the ship Ville de Rennes from the harbor of Yan, and prevent his whaling there. The captains of the brig Constantine and also of the Graefer Berg have been very zealous in their endeavors to frighten American and other ships from Ochotsk Sea whaling. Whether they have succeeded in intimidating many American shipmasters from going there another season, (by mere threats of armed cruisers) yet remains to be seen. The brig took possession of Ayan, and has been here all the season until the difficulty with the French ship. The Russian captain called upon the Governor to assist, but that worthy individual had the good sense to mind his own business, and let the Emperor of Russia alone; consequently the captain left the bay in high dudgeon. Capt. [illegible] took possession of Tavisk Bay, and held it without molestation; but there were no whales in the bay."

NEW-GRANADA.

News from Bogota—The Trade of Panama to Guayaquil and Central America—The St. Marys—The Washington Star—Naval News—Loss of a Magdalena River Steamer.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Panama, Saturday, March 5, 1859.

The mail from Bogota brings dates only to Jan. 26, that for the succeeding fortnight having failed to connect at Carthagena with the British steamer at Aspinwall. The annual session of the Congress of New-Granada was to commence on Feb. 1, and most of the members had arrived at the capital. There is no news of any great importance. In the State of Cundinamarca, an active canvass for Governor was going on. In the State of Antioquia so many assassinations had taken place within the last few months, as to attract the serious attention of the Government. The Liberal party, which is out of power in that State, curiously enough attributed this increase of capital offences to the severity of the criminal laws. One of the Bogota papers (El Porvenir) says, it is well known that a conspiracy exists in the States of Bolivar and Magdalena, to separate themselves from their sister States. It says the disaffection in those States is confined to a few of the Government opposition, who are in desperate want of offices, and who do not see any other way to get them than through disunion. It ridicules the idea that they can succeed.

One of the American steamers, running on the river Magdalena, the Mompos, has been lost by running against a snag.

Panama is just as quiet as usual. Indeed, a "solitude in some vast wilderness" could not be much duller. The merchants find their trade materially lessened since the blockade of Guayaquil by the Peruvian fleet—Ecuador taking a considerable quantity of goods from us in exchange for cocoa, "Panama" hats, &c. The Central American trade is getting, every month, more active, in consequence of the regular steam communication afforded by the Panama Railroad Company; and it is expected, in another year, it will so increase as to enable the Company to run a semi-monthly instead of a monthly steamer. The new steamer Guatemala, just finished in New-York for this trade, is expected out in a couple of months to run in connection with the Columbus. It is wonderful how much agriculture has been stimulated on all the Pacific coast of Central America by the opening of a rapid and cheap route by which coffee, indigo, cochineal, balsam, cocoa, hides, deer-skins, &c., can find a cash market. Two or three years later, after the new coffee, cocoa trees and cotton plants have had time to produce, the amount of these products crossing the Isthmus to American and European markets, will constitute no mean figures in the commercial tables of the world.

The Panama Railroad Company have just made arrangements, whereby shippers in England may send their goods on through bills of lading to Valparaiso, all the way by steam, for £15 10s., or about $76 per ton, thus avoiding delays and the onerous charges of express and commission agents. This will increase the business of the Company immensely. It is to be hoped some speedy arrangement will be made whereby the excessive rates of steam freight between New York and San Francisco may be largely reduced. With lines of propellers on both oceans, goods might be taken from New York to San Francisco at even less rates than from Southampton to Valparaiso. Now, the steam rates between the two former ports are enormous—being on "slow" freight from $126 to $148 per ton.

The U. S. sloop-of-war St. Marys arrived at Panama from Acapulco on the 21st ultimo, after a passage of twenty-six days, with her own as well as her relief crew on board. The old officers and crew go home on the Aspinwall steamer to-day. The new officers are as follows:

Commander—R. D. Thorburn; First Lieutenant—G. S. Balch; Second Lieutenant—Jas. H. Moore; Third Lieutenant—S. L. Phelps; Purser—George H. Ritchie; Lieutenant commanding Marines—C. L. Sayre; Surgeon—J. T. Mason; Ass't Surgeon—J. J. Magee; Captain's Clerk—Jas. H. Thorburn.

The officers who go home are:

Commander—C. H. Davis; Lieutenants—J. S. Maury, D. P. McCorkle, W. H. Ward; Surgeon—J. W. Taylor; Assistant Surgeon—Stewart Kennedy; Purser—W. A. Ingersoll; Lieutenant Marines—E. M. D. Reynolds.

Lieutenant Fairfax was detached from the St. Marys by Flag-Officer Long, and ordered to the Saranac.

I notice a bitter article in the Washington Star, the data for which is evidently furnished by the Secretary of the Navy, charging your regular correspondent with malice in his comments upon the bungling business as to the relief of the St. Marys. The letter commented upon so severely, was not by your own correspondent, but from the facts stated, I judge it to have been written by a naval gentleman in Panama. It was an expensive and tedious affair, this waiting six weeks or two months in Panama, and then the uncertain hunt for the St. Marys on the West Coast—the crowding together of both crews in a small vessel in a tropical climate, and lastly, the fortnight's detention of the old crew in Panama after turning over the ship. But I believe it was a contretemps which could not have been well foreseen by the Secretary. And it is not at all likely the thing will ever again be repeated. There was no necessity of sending out the relief for the St. Marys until the Secretary had information that she was at anchor at Panama. From the time a vessel drops her anchor in the Bay until the news can reach Washington and the officers and crew be relieved, need not be more than 30 to 35 days at furthest. And it would be far better that the two years' cruise should be exceeded that period, than that the officers should be put to the expense of living two or three months on shore, as an expense to themselves or the Government of thousands of dollars and any amount of inconvenience, in waiting for the uncertain return of their vessel.

The Cyane, which was at Callao on the 27th January, when the British steamer left, ought to be in, in a day or two; and the Vandalia is expected in the course of the present month from the coast of Mexico. The flag-ship Merrimack, which is at Realejo, is soon expected. The Decatur will also come here from Realejo, should she not have received her new orders to go to San Francisco. The British frigate Alarm arrived at Panama ten days since, from the coast of Mexico, with $[illegible] for England, and sailed on a cruise in a couple of days after. [illegible]

SOUTH AMERICA.

Blockade of Guayaquil—Peru Tranquil—Chilian Mediation—Departure of the French Resident—The Revolution in Chili—Business Dull at Valparaiso.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Panama, Friday, March 4, 1859.

The British mail steamship Callao arrived at Panama on the 28th ult., with dates from Valparaiso to Feb. 1, and Callao and Lima to the 11th. The Callao did not touch at Guayaquil.

ECUADOR.

The French steamer [illegible], tender to the Admiral's ship, arrived at Panama on the 28th ult., with dates from Guayaquil to the 10th. There is no other news, save that the blockade of the port was still continued by four ships of the Peruvian fleet, and [illegible]. The Ecuadorians had a force of about 3,000 men in the city, badly armed and worse disciplined. [illegible]

PERU.

Peru is tolerably quiet, the discontented, at present being without a leader [illegible]

[illegible] with powers from his Government to mediate between Peru and Ecuador. He has addressed a communication to the Minister of the latter Republic, offering his good offices to settle the differences, which proposition is replied to favorably by the Minister. Peru, so far as is known, has not decided to accept the mediation.

Several other arrests have been made at Lima and Callao of persons charged with conspiracy against the Government, who have been thrown into the castle at Callao. Carlos J. [illegible], who claimed to be an American citizen, but who is not, has been released on $4,000 bail to keep the peace.

Assassinations and robberies are fearfully frequent in Lima, and the newspapers complain that the Police is so bad that no arrests are ever made of the assassins. In the meantime the Legislative Assembly is seriously inclined to pass a bill now before it, abolishing capital punishment.

Don Cipriano Coronel Zegarra, a member of the Lima Congress, has been appointed Peruvian Minister to Washington, and Don Nicolas [illegible] Secretary of Legation.

The Minister of Justice has addressed a note to the President of the Supreme Court in relation to the imprisonment of Pierre [illegible], a French subject, on a criminal charge. I wrote you in my last that Monsieur Huet, the French Consul-General, who is charged with diplomatic power, had struck his flag and gone on board the French frigate Andromède, because of the refusal of President Castilla to release this man, and that the case had been referred to the Emperor Napoleon by Castilla. The Minister of Justice tells the President of the Court that Peru will rather suffer "all the consequences that a diplomatic complication can produce than to manifest the least lack of confidence in the intelligence and severe rectitude of his tribunal"—but wishes him to have the man judged as soon as possible, in consonance with the strict letter and spirit of the laws. It is presumed, however, that the Court will take good care M. [illegible] is not convicted. M. Huet has gone away, in the Andromède, not to return until this question is definitely resolved.

Business is duller than ever in Lima, Callao and the Chincha Islands. This is partly owing to the wretched Bolivian currency, in use in Peru, the intrinsic value of which is scarcely over 65 cents on a dollar, and partly to the uneasy state of the public mind, which is continually influenced by fears of revolution. The amount of guano exported in January is only 6,811 tons in nine vessels, five of which went to England and four to the United States. Exchange on England is at 42 pence. Chili condors, whose intrinsic value is say $9 in the United States, are at 12 per cent. premium on their nominal value of $10. South American ounces are 15 per cent. premium on a valuation of $17, and the pound sterling brings 17 per cent. premium.

The United States sloop-of-war Cyane, Commander Lockwood, was at Callao, to sail in a day or two for Panama.

BOLIVIA.

This Republic is quiet—that is to say, there is no party now in arms against the Presidency of Dr. Linares. The Government at present is at Oruro. [illegible] revolutionary correspondence of Ex-President [illegible] has been seized at La Paz, by which [illegible]

The Bolivian Envoys at Lima and Paris have been notified to leave within eight days.

CHILI.

Notwithstanding all the efforts of the Government presses to belittle the revolutionary movement against President Montt and his Government, it is quite manifest, from the tenor of private letters and verbal accounts, that it is every day acquiring greater consistency and strength. The rich and populous City and Province of Talca has declared against the Government, and it is said Concepcion is also in the hands of the revolutionists.

In conversation a day or two since with a Peruvian statesman, who is well-informed in Chili matters, I asked what the prospect was for a successful issue of the revolution. He remarked: "It depends almost entirely upon the course Gen. Bulnes may take. He is at present quietly, to all appearances, living on his estates. If he should decide to favor the party in arms against the Government, that party will certainly succeed. If he takes the other side, the revolutionists are lost. If he remains neutral, the chances are about even."

The Government has sent from 300 to 500 men to the rich mining district of Copiapó, but this force is so small that it dare not advance further than Monte Amargo, on the line of the railroad. The revolutionists have fortified themselves in Copiapó, and are quietly waiting for outbreaks in other parts, so as to oblige the Government to scatter its forces as much as possible. They are said to have from 900 to 1,400 men under arms. In Talca the revolutionary movement commenced on the 21st January. A son of Gen. Las Heras is in command of the revolutionists, and is said to have 900 cavalry in the field. The Government has sent only 300 men to the port of Constitution to stifle the movement in Talca. The provinces of Nuble and Aconcagua are in partial revolt, and the next mail was expected to bring bad news to the Government from the province of Arauco. The Government dare not send away its troops from Valparaiso to put down these movements, because it is there were the grand move is daily expected. It is greatly feared if the people rise in Valparaiso that the mob will commit many excesses, as there is an enormous amount of wealth at that great commercial point.

The revolutionists have torn up some of the rails between Caldera and Copiapo, to prevent the Government forces from getting to Copiapo and the other towns in revolt in the province of Atacama.

Incidents of the Chilian Revolution have come to my knowledge, one of which, as I learn it from an American civil engineer of high character, who was a witness of the scene, is worth relating. President Montt, dispatched the 22-gun steamship Esmeralda to Caldera, as soon as he heard of the rising at Copiapó, with 350 troops to put it down. The Esmeralda, on dropping anchor at the port, discovered a man very composedly sitting on a fine horse, close to the landing, intently watching the ship. Rightly divining that this individual was the Revolutionary Governor of Caldera, and wishing by all means to prevent the news of their arrival from reaching Copiapó, the commander of the Esmeralda at once sent four boats of armed men to the shore, with orders to prevent the starting of the locomotive, which, it was perceived, was firing up. As the boat neared the shore, the engineer ran for his life, but the Governor jumped on to the locomotive. Presently, as the shots from the government rifles dropped like hail around the iron horse, he gave one defiant snort, and started like the wind on his course, breaking the feed-pipe, which was supplying the machine with water from the reservoir. The Governor continued his break-neck speed for about 35 miles, when, the water being exhausted, he ran the locomotive partly off the track, in such a manner that great delay must be experienced in getting it on again. A hand-car being near at hand, he hopped on to it, and propelled it for the distance of about two miles, when he took up several rails and buried them deeply in the sand. A couple of miles farther, and buried more rails—and so on, burying rails, until he had run the whole 50 miles to Copiapo. In a day or two after, the Government troops, by repairing the road, managed to get as far as Monte Amargo, half way from Caldera. Then they advanced ten miles further, when they were met by 60 of the revolutionists, armed with Sharpe's rifles, who compelled them to fall back to the Monte. [illegible] At the last accounts, President Montt's men were fortifying themselves at Monte Amargo, with every prospect of having to "cut dirt" at the first demonstration of Gallo's determined little force. The latter is said to have 1,300 men, well armed.

A few days after the occurrence narrated above, the Government party planted a cannon directly in the road at Monte Amargo, with the idea to fire into any train from Copiapó that might come down. [illegible]

The Government papers charge that the priests are helping forward the revolutionary movement, and call upon the Government to watch them narrowly and punish them severely if they are caught promoting trouble. [illegible]

Arrests continue to be made in all parts of the Republic, and the prisoners are judged by military tribunals. [illegible]

Government is paying $30 bounty to each recruit.

powers to act against the revolutionists as he might see fit.

The port of Caldera having fallen into the hands of the Government party, the blockade has been raised and the port declared again open to trade.

The fortnight preceding Feb. 1 has been unprecedentedly dull in a business point of view, in consequence of the political excitement, as well as the unfavorable rates of exchange, which prevents remittance from the Peruvian markets. White Sheetings and American Drills are scarce, with an upward tendency. Flour is from $3 25 to $4 ℘ quintal, 6 months. Copper has advanced, owing to the rise in Europe; it is now firm at $19 50 @$20. Exchange on London, 60 to 90 days, 46@46¼d.; on United States, 7@8 prem.

IMPORTANT FROM MEXICO.

Defeat of President Miramon's Troops at Cordova.

Approach of the Liberals Toward the Capital.

New-Orleans, Saturday, March 12.

The steamship Tennessee is below, with Vera Cruz dates of the 9th instant.

A battle had been fought near Cordova, and the left wing of Miramon's army was completely routed by the Liberals. Miramon lost one hundred men killed, three cannon, three hundred muskets, and a large quantity of ammunition.

General Degollado was preparing to march on the capital with ten thousand men.

The Liberals had captured Guanajuato and Aguascalientes.

The arrival of the brig Minatitlan at New-Orleans furnishes dates from Tampico and the northern States of the Republic to Feb. 26. The most active preparations for prosecuting the civil war continued in the Liberal camp, and with this object Governor Garza had himself resolved to take the field. We notice his name among the passengers by the last British steamer for Vera Cruz, from which we infer that he is first to give the benefit of his military genius and experience to that city, now most threatened. It does not appear, however, that he took down any troops with him.

During the absence of Gov. Garza, Señor D. [illegible] Treviño will act as Governor of the State of Tamaulipas. In delivering up, temporarily, his civil trust, Gen. Garza says he does it with the object of devoting himself exclusively to service in the field, in the Constitutional cause. In his letter of acceptance, Gen. Treviño recommends him "to the God of battles."

In the meantime, the war is also to be prosecuted with renewed vigor all through the interior. Among other things, the Tampico papers notice the arrival at that port of a large amount of ammunition, some 3,000 cannon balls, for the army of the North, and what is not a little surprising, from Vera Cruz, now so hard pressed herself.

The Tampico papers manifest considerable alarm as to the result of Miramon's expedition, as well they might, though they consider Vera Cruz in the most perfect state of defence. "More than 4,000 men," says the Prisma, "can be concentrated there at a moment's notice, in case of attack, without including the commands of Llave and [illegible], or the army of [illegible], numbering 1,400 men, now before Orizava." All counted, then, the Liberals have, for the defence of the city, and keeping Miramon in check, about 6,800 available troops. On the other hand, the Prisma does not think that more than 1,800 men can be spared from the cities now held, only at the point of the bayonet, by the Reactionary party, and that Miramon will have to depend almost entirely upon the army with which he set out from the capital.

The papers contain full official reports of the recent engagements in the States of Zacatecas and Aguascalientes. They are in the usual pompous style of all Mexican papers, especially when they have a victory to report; but there is little in them not already published, except lists of the killed, wounded and prisoners.

Among the prisoners who fell into the hands of the victorious army at Aguascalientes was Gen. [illegible], one of the most noted chiefs of the Church military party, who has since suffered death.

Quarantine Meeting in Richmond County—A Committee Appointed.

On Saturday evening, a public meeting of the citizens of Richmond in favor of the removal of Quarantine, was held at the house of Mr. James [illegible], in Castleton. Mr. [illegible] presided, and Mr. William H. Allen was appointed Secretary. The Chairman stated the object of the meeting, remarking that the bill pending before the Assembly for the removal of Quarantine, from some strange and unknown cause, had been lingering, with but little progress, since the commencement of the present session of the Legislature; that the interests of every citizen called for some immediate action in relation thereto; and that, therefore, the citizens should resolve upon some efficient procedure to meet the emergencies of the case.

Sundry speeches were made by Dr. Murry, Health Officer of Castleton, Mr. Donnelly and others, and the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we solemnly protest against the continuance of the Quarantine on our shores for another season, and respectfully solicit of the Honorable the Legislature to pass a law which shall effect its speedy removal.

2. That we verily believe that the Legislature heretofore, in passing laws, in appointing Commissioners, and in making large appropriations, for the removal of Quarantine, has acted in good faith relative to our prayers and best interests; and that the only reason why such acts have not been effectual in ridding us of the establishment has been inefficiency, or something worse, on the part of the persons hitherto appointed Commissioners to execute the provisions of the several acts for removal.

3. That we have entire confidence in the persons who have recently been appointed as Quarantine Commissioners, and that we heartily and publicly tender our thanks to Gov. Morgan for the good judgment which he has exercised in disposing of the "old Commission" and creating a new one.

4. That we entirely eschew all and every disposition to meddle with Executive appointments, and that the "removal" which we desire is not that of the present Health Officer, but of the Quarantine.

5. That a Committee of three persons be appointed by the Chair to present the foregoing preamble and resolutions to the Hon. Robert Christie, Jr., with a request that he shall lay the same before the House and the Senate, and to take such further steps as they deem proper in relation to the great question of "Removal."

In compliance with the last resolution, the Chair appointed the following persons as a Committee to visit Albany, viz.: Wm. H. Allen, Esq., Dr. Murry, and B. Donnelly, Esq. The Committee was empowered to add to its numbers.

On motion, the foregoing Committee were requested to draft a memorial, to procure signatures thereto, and to present the same to the Legislature, asking for the removal of Quarantine.

The Registry Law—Senator Mather's Report.

In the State Senate, March 10, Mr. Mather, from the Select Committee to which was referred the Registry bill introduced by Mr. Johnson, made an adverse report. The points were as follows:

1. The proposed Registry law would be a violation of the Constitution of the State—as it would demand of the elector qualifications, without the possession of which the Constitution has declared he "shall be entitled to vote."

2. The proposed law would not prevent frauds upon the suffrage, but rather furnish machinery which would facilitate their commission.

3. In the rural districts such a law is entirely unnecessary, and in large cities it would utterly fail to answer the purpose of its enactment.

4. The proposed Registry law would increase the expenses, and consequently the taxation of every town in the State.

5. [illegible]

6. The proposed registry law, by its obstacles in the way of the exercise of the right of suffrage, would prevent many legal voters from depositing their ballots.

7. The law proposed, in addition to the objections already enumerated, would prove annoying and become odious to the people—especially of the rural districts, where its uselessness, expensiveness and inconvenience would be very apparent—[illegible] in the language of Governor Seward, [illegible]

All of which is respectfully submitted.

MINISTERIAL CHANGES—THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.

The rumor to the effect that General Peel was about to leave the War Office, and Sir Edward Bulwer Lytton the Colonial Office, has been officially contradicted. The report, so far as it affected the latter, had been so far modified as to announce that he was about to replace the present Governor-General of Canada.

In the House of Commons, on Feb. 22, Mr. [illegible] begged to ask whether it was intended by the Government to grant any sum of money, or to give any guarantee to the Atlantic Telegraph Company?

The Chancellor of the Exchequer replied that the Atlantic Telegraph Company made a proposition to the Government some time ago, by which they wished to obtain an unconditional guarantee, but the Government stated that they had come to a resolution to give no guarantee unconditionally. [Hear, hear.] Since then another proposition has been made by the Atlantic Telegraph Company, to which we returned an answer, founded on the principle to which I have adverted. Whether the Company has now got the assistance of the Government, on the conditions which the Government was ready to offer I am not prepared to state to the honorable gentleman. If he had given me notice of his question I should have been prepared to do so. But I may say that any assistance which the Government may give the Atlantic Telegraph Company, or any other company, will be on the condition that the line is in a working state. [Hear, hear.]

At the general meeting of the Company on the 2d ult., the financial condition of the Company was represented to be far from satisfactory, the balance in the Treasury being short of £[illegible]. No action was taken, nor future plans proposed.

Mr. Hughes, the inventor of the American Telegraphing machine, has in the meantime been experimenting upon the manufacture of a cable that shall be free from all the supposed defects of that now submerged; the principal point being the insertion of a non-conducting "viscid, semi-fluid substance" [illegible]

Trial of James Stephens for the Murder of His Wife by Poison—Additional Medical Testimony.

SIXTH DAY.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.

Before the Hon. Judge Roosevelt.

The Court room was less thronged on Saturday than on previous days, partly because the Judge had ordered stringent measures to prevent the ingress of an uncomfortable crowd, and partly because the pecuniary duties of the seventh day of the week have a tendency to keep a large class of otherwise wandering citizens at home.

Dr. Detmold—not without objection by the counsel for defence—was recalled by Mr. Sedgwick, the Assistant District Attorney, and proceeded to describe, more at length than he did on the preceding day, the symptoms of poisoning by arsenic. These were in the first place, according to the witness, a fiery pain from the pit of the stomach, extending upwards, with a sore mouth and lips, and extending downwards to the orifice of the anus, so as to make the evacuation painful. In cases where death follows in a few days after a large dose being taken, the eyes might either have a wild, brilliant appearance, or be sunk deeply in the head, and frequently injected with blood; but in cases which were not so immediately fatal, and where death occurred in a week or two after repeated doses, the eyes were apt to be swollen; in the slower cases there is frequently edematous swelling of the lids with pain in the eyes; at first the color of the vomited matter would depend much on the contents of the stomach, but after the stomach was emptied then the color would depend on the secretions, and the ejected masses would be yellow, with spots or streaks of blood; if there were a great deal of blood it might be much darker; the vomited matter might at times be the color of coffee grounds; the patients are very frequently exceedingly restless, tossing their arms and hands about; very frequently there is numbness and loss of sensation, also paralysis or convulsive twitchings, showing that the nerves are affected; the manner of death varies according to the quantity taken; in most cases it occurs under collapse, (cold, clammy skin, weak pulse, &c.,) at times there is a great lethargy when death approaches; great prostration is noticeable through the whole course of the disease; laudanum produced drowsiness and a contraction of the pupil, which in large doses becomes smaller; the patient becomes drowsy, and before death gets into convulsions together with coma; the respiration is very slow and snoring, a loud breathing that can be heard; when medical men give over two drachms at a time, it is an exceptional case; three and a half ounces between nine A. M. and seven P. M., would certainly be a colossal dose; when arsenic is taken in successive small doses it will accumulate in the body more rapidly than it would be thrown out again; it is removed chiefly by the kidneys, and begins about the loins; but within twenty-four hours after the first dose there was reason to suppose that such removal goes on until the whole of the arsenic leaves the system, provided no new doses are introduced; arsenic would be eliminated more rapidly where the blood and all the functions performed their active duties than when they move slowly; the dose thus supposed must be a very small one; if one-sixteenth of a grain it is difficult to find minute particles, but in three days the witness does not believe that any could be found after one dose. A dose of arsenic begins with one-sixteenth of a grain, which would be given only twice a day, and then the patient would be watched for poisonous symptoms, which occur sometimes after such doses, and then it would cease to be medicinal. The effects of medicinal doses of arsenic are slow, and those of laudanum very rapid—so that if a dose of arsenic and laudanum be given at the same time, the laudanum would be mainly noticed, while in larger doses of each it would be directly the reverse, and the doses of arsenic would be but slightly influenced by the laudanum, which would in a measure relieve the pains, and partially stop the vomiting and diarrhœa, but all these would be overpowered by the arsenic; the post-mortem appearances of a case of arsenical poisoning are at first negative; thus if death occurred rapidly, and a rent was found in the stomach, they would not go further and suspect poisoning; they generally find a slight inflammation extending through the intestines from the mouth to the anus, with black patches under the mucous membrane which could not be washed off; there might be abrasion of the skin in the intestines; in looking at these spots or patches by the microscope, probably blood would be found; had not much experience in anatomical matters, but arsenic is a preventative of putrefaction. In a great many cases, when a body poisoned by arsenic is exhumed, the body is found in good preservation; the non-existence of these post-mortem appearances described would prove nothing, but their existence would be proof positive. Witness took his degree at Gottingen in Germany.

Mr. Ulman declined to cross-examine this witness, but intimated his wish to examine him another time.

To the Court—When the kidneys are over-stimulated by arsenic, there is no further elimination, and then death would ensue more rapidly; believes that no matter how much arsenic is taken into the stomach, only a small amount will really enter the system; when there is a large amount the patient will die, and they may introduce as much more into the stomach as they please, the system will not absorb it.

Dr. B. Fordyce Barker, Professor of Midwifery and Diseases of Women in the New-York Medical College, and also physician to the Bellevue Hospital, was the next witness. He was acquainted with the symptoms of poisoning by arsenic; they are in acute poisoning, faintness, depression, nausea, vomiting, pain in the pit of the stomach of a burning character extending upwards, so that the ordinary expression of patients is, "that it is like a ball of fire in the throat;" these symptoms were all due to local irritation; in other cases of acute poisoning the nervous system is affected, and there is exhaustion, collapse, sometimes coma and death; there is palsy, sometimes convulsions, and loss of feeling. The doctor next described the symptoms of chronic poisoning, as described by the other medical witnesses, one of the most characteristic being intense and constant thirst, adding that spasms of the muscles also frequently occurred before death; the thirst in inflammation of the bowels is less than in poisoning by arsenic; in cholera and cholera morbus there is collapse, but no palsy, and the symptoms in the nervous system are only those from exhaustion, from the profuse drain; believes colic is usually accompanied with constipation, and not so much vomiting and thirst; it could hardly be mistaken for arsenical poisoning; if administered in poisonous doses, arsenical symptoms would be developed in from half an hour to three hours.

Q.—Do you know if arsenic generates in the body at any period after death—say a year? A.—There is no evidence that it ever has; chemical analysis would detect arsenic in the body, however minute, even to a small part of a grain; it had been decided that from two to three grains of arsenic would destroy life, and from that upwards. The symptoms spoken of would not appear when arsenic is given in small doses; after that it ceases to be medicinal; arsenic is administered in the shape of Fowler's solution for skin diseases, and intermittent fever, but if symptoms of burning of the throat, or redness of the eyes, &c., supervene, then the doses are stopped; if arsenic is not eliminated and remains in the system, it then becomes a poison; the existence of arsenic in the tissues is evidence that it has been cases of poisoning; in colic the pain is relieved by pressure, in poisoning it is increased by pressure.

Q.—If you found in a human body two grains of arsenic, would you say that a greater amount had been administered? A.—In my judgment there can be no doubt of that; a larger amount must have been introduced into the system, because arsenic produces vomiting, and more or less must be thrown off.

Edward Downes Connery, examined by Mr. Sheafer, deposed that he is a physician, and received his degree in the Medical College of New-York; was Coroner of this city for the three years preceding the 1st of January last; held an inquest on the body of Mrs. Sophia Stephens; first saw the body at Greenwood Cemetery, where it was identified by the Misses Bell under an oath administered by the witness.

Cross-examined by Mr. Cushing—Cannot remember where Stephens was when the body was exhumed; I recollect that I brought him in a carriage from the Tombs to the inquest; he was not at Greenwood; he asked me to see the body, but I considered that my jurisdiction over it had ceased when I gave it up to the doctors; I never said to a policeman that I would see that he should have an opportunity of viewing his wife's remains.

The Court adjourned till this (Monday) morning, at 10 o'clock, when the prosecution will probably close, and the testimony for the defence will commence.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM—MARCH 12.

Before Judges Roosevelt, Davies and Clerke.

Vanyard vs. Lindsley.—Judgment of Special Term affirmed, but modified as to costs; fund to be disposed of in accordance with opinion.

NOTICE TO THE BAR.

The Court (ROOSEVELT, J.,) stated that as the business of the non-enumerated Calendar was continually increasing, and retarding the progress of the General Term in disposing of the enumerated business brought before them, it had been suggested, and unless objection was made by the Bar in writing or otherwise, the suggestion would probably be carried out, that a General Term should be held every Monday, to dispose of the non-enumerated business.

The Court invited the attention of the Bar to the suggestion.

SPECIAL TERM.

Matter of widening Reade-street.—In this case an application was made on the 15th of January last, for a confirmation of the report of the Commissioners, as reported in the TIMES of the 17th. The report was sent back to the Commissioners for amendment. This morning an application was made to confirm the amended report which was opposed on the same grounds as before.

Elish W. Hinman vs. John C. Rose, Jr.—Injunction continued with $10 costs to abide event.

Petition of Union Bank.—Motion for appointment of Trustee denied.

SUPERIOR COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Justice Hoffman.

EXTRAORDINARY CONFLICT OF TESTIMONY—CLAIM OF PARTNERSHIP IN A TWENTY YEARS' BUSINESS—$75,000 INVOLVED.

William Gregory vs Sarah Gregory, Executrix of John Gregory et al.—This case was referred to in the TIMES of March 3, when the trial of it commenced, and the leading facts were then stated at some length. It involves a claim by William Gregory to share the property standing in the name of his brother, John Gregory, deceased, on the ground that William and John were equal partners in the business in which that property was acquired. The business was done in the name of "John Gregory," but this, it is claimed, was used as a firm name. The defence deny all partnership, and claim that William labored in the business as his brother's clerk or journeyman. The case, although perhaps not exactly a "a romance in real life," is certainly a remarkable instance of obscurity and uncertainty enshrouding what one would suppose to be the simplest and plainest history possible. Two brothers did business together for nearly twenty years in the City of New-York, and now it is found difficult to determine whether they were partners or not.

The following are the conflicting points in the testimony as to this question:

PLAINTIFF'S WITNESSES.

Willet Pierce—I know plaintiff, and was acquainted with John Gregory in his lifetime; I became acquainted with both in the latter part of 1835; William and I were employed as apprentices in the tin and sheet-iron business with McFarlan; John was an apprentice in Brooklyn with McIntosh; my acquaintance continued up to three years ago, since which I have been out of the City; I remember a conversation between them relative to opening a shop; they told me they were going to start a shop together; they repeated this often to me; they did open a shop, and they told me afterwards they had opened a shop together, and were doing business together, and were getting along very well; in 1838 I went to work for them as journeyman and remained something like a year; as far as I could see they both attended to the business and took an equal interest in it; I can't remember which of them made the arrangement with me, perhaps I talked with both; sometimes one paid me my wages, sometimes the other, whichever happened to be in the store; their principal business was in tin and sheet-iron; William took the principal charge of the work-shop, the tin business particularly; John worked principally at the copper-smith work; they both attended to the store, William as much, or rather more than John; there was a sign over the door; the sign first put up was "John Gregory;" three or four years afterwards the sign "Mr. Gregory" was put up on the lintel over the door in the place where John's had been, and John's name was put up outside; they removed to the store No. 230 Eighth-avenue in 1850 or 1851; I don't think the name "Mr. Gregory" remained up to that time; at the time of their removal I had returned, and was working for them; I remained with them at that time about three years; I think William's sign was put up somewhere at the new store; his connection appeared to be the same as before; he took charge of the store and of orders, and gave orders about the work; both John and William paid the hands, and received money, but William was in the store more than John; I never heard either of them give directions to the distance meanwhile, William said he had boarded with his brother, and when he had wanted money he had taken it, but what he had received was very little.

John A. Fleming—I am General Appraiser at the Surrogate's Office, and took inventory of John Gregory's estate; I saw Mr. William Gregory at the store; I asked him to take an account of stock and he said he would; he made no statement of any claim of any kind; I asked him if there were any partners in the business and he said "No."

George P. Moneck, associate appraiser, recollected this question being put to William, but thought he did not give any positive answer; witness understood him to say the executors would settle with him.

John M. Hall and George Peckham, book-keepers by profession, and sworn as experts, testified that many entries in the books of the business indicated that the sole ownership of the concern was in Wm. Gregory, while other parts of the account were kept as if John only had been owner.

The evidence in the cause being closed, Alexander W. Bradford, Esq., summed up the case for the defence on Friday. The hearing stands adjourned to 11 A. M., on Monday, when Mr. James T. Brady will make the closing speech for the plaintiff.

William B. Lawrence vs. John Woods.—New trial granted; costs to abide event.

COMMON PLEAS—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Judge Hilton.

JURISDICTION OF SUPPLEMENTARY PROCEEDINGS.

Kennedy vs. Weed and Wife.—This was a motion to attach defendants for contempt in failing to appear pursuant to an order for supplementary examination. The facts appear in the opinion.

HILTON, J.—It is only when a transcript of a Justice's judgment is filed that it becomes a judgment of this Court, (Code § 63,) and after the return of an execution issued upon it, unsatisfied, a Judge of this Court may require the defendant to appear and be examined upon supplementary proceedings, (§ 292.)

On the return of the order granted in this case requiring the defendants to show cause why they should not be punished as for a contempt in disobeying the order directing them to appear and be examined concerning their property, it is made to appear in their behalf that there is no such judgment docketed against them in this Court as that described in the affidavits on which the proceedings were instituted; the affidavit showing a judgment in favor of the plaintiff against Ira Weed and Mary Weed, while the transcript docketted is of a judgment against Ira Weed and Mrs. Weed.

This seems to me to be a fatal objection, affecting the jurisdiction of the Judge granting the order, and one which cannot be obviated by amendment.

The order supplementary must be predicated upon

riage in 1809, being recorded the same way; it further appears that the father and mother lived together as husband and wife, that they were always reputed to be such, that they cohabited together and were called Mr. and Mrs. Busby by all their acquaintance and friends, as well before as after the marriage, registered at Stoke Damerell, in 1809. These are the leading facts in the case, which also contains many other incidental circumstances involving collateral issues. The whole matter was finally submitted to the Surrogate for decision, after an eloquent and able argument by the respective counsel.

A. W. Bradford, for claimants; Charles Edwards, for contestants.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

A large British steam-frigate was reported below last night, which is undoubtedly the Curacoa, from Plymouth, England, having on board Lord LYONS, the new British Minister to this country.

The Star of the West, from Aspinwall on the 5th March, arrived last evening, bringing the California mails and specie of Feb. 19. The receipt of specie is light, amounting to $920,000. The news from California is unimportant, but from other points on the Pacific, interesting. A party of twenty-six men had been murdered by the Indians in the Fraser River district. The United States Boundary Commissioner, Mr. CAMPBELL, had arrived at Olympia, Washington Territory. A party from San Francisco, acting in behalf of the Pacific Guano Company, had seized the guano island known as Johnson's Island, in the Pacific, and were preparing to make shipments. The United States surveying schooner Fenimore Cooper had commenced the survey of the Sandwich Islands and the adjacent shoals.

The latest dates from Bogota, owing to the failure of mails, are to Jan. 26. The New-Granadian Congress was about to assemble. With the exception of some rumors of a design of the States of Bolivar and Magdalena to secede from the Confederation, the state of affairs was tranquil.

Intelligence from Panama denotes the entire quiet of affairs on the Isthmus, with business languishing. The United States sloop-of-war St. Mary's had arrived from Acapulco, with her own as well as the relief crew on board. The former came home upon the Star of the West.

The blockade of Guayaquil is still maintained, though remissly, owing to the sickness prevailing among the crews of the Peruvian squadron.

Peru is unrevolutionized, mainly, it is thought for lack of a leader. The war against Ecuador hangs fire, owing to the inability of President CASTILLA to recruit his army, and in the meantime an Envoy of Chili has tendered his mediation in the quarrel, which seems likely to be accepted. Arrests on the charge of conspiracy continue to be made at Lima. M. HUET, the French Envoy, had departed for France on board the frigate Andromède. The United States sloop-of-war Cyane was at Callao, preparing to sail for Panama.

Bolivia was entirely quiet, the recent rumors of revolutionary movements proving unfounded.

The revolution in Chili has gathered strength since the previous advices. The wealthy province of Talca had declared against the Government, while the provinces of Nuble and Aconcagua are in partial revolt, and that of Avanco turbulent. The Government was making every effort to strengthen its army.

The mails of the North Briton and the Arabia were delivered in this City on Saturday. Interesting details of the news, forwarded by the telegraph from Portland and Halifax, will be found in another column.

The intelligence we receive from Mexico is of especial moment. The Liberals had fallen upon the left wing of MIRAMON'S army, as it advanced towards Alvarado, and after a smart action had routed it, with very heavy loss. The cities of Aguascalientes and Guanajuato had likewise fallen into the hands of the Liberals, who, under the leadership of DEGOLLADO, were preparing to attack the capital in the absence of the President. Gen. GARZA had left Tampico to aid in the defence of Vera Cruz.

The steamship Isabel has arrived at Charleston from Havana, bringing intelligence of the total loss of the ship Nathan from Boston for New-Orleans, on Cape Florida, on the 2d inst. There is nothing important from Havana. Sugars were quiet and on the decline.

Kingston, Jamaica, dates are to Feb. 17. A Haytien war schooner had arrived with three envoys from President GEFFRARD to the Governor, and also with orders to take home on her return all political refugees wishing to return to their country. SOULOUQUE was under the surveillance of the Jamaica authorities.

The employes of the Post-office Department, in accordance with the request of the President, have prepared and submitted to him an exhibit of the affairs of that branch of the Government. The present deficiency is shown to be at least five millions, and the Department is six months in arrears. Mr. HOLT, the new Postmaster-General, on Saturday resigned the office of Commissioner of Patents, and will enter upon the duties of his new office to-day.

Gen. DENVER, in accordance with his declared intention regarding the appointment of McGUFFIE to the office of Superintendent of Indian Affairs in California, has resigned the Indian Commissionership.

According to the dispatch of our special Washington correspondent, the President has come to the determination to call an extra session of Congress—probably about the 1st of August. The majority of the Cabinet, having secured their own appropriations, are not inclined to favor the movement, but the new Postmaster-General, who will take his seat in the Cabinet for the first time to-morrow, will exhibit the official figures called for by the President, showing an absolute necessity for legislation prior to the regular meeting of Congress, and will insist upon it. The determination of the President will then be announced.

In the State Senate on Saturday, another veto was received from the Governor—the fourth during the session. The bill authorizing the placing of fish-poles and drag-nets in New-York Harbor was returned with his objections—the ground being that they interrupt navigation. In the Assembly, favorable reports were made on a number of bills which have already passed the Senate—among them the one making an appropriation for the Canal debt, and to supply the deficiency in the former appropriation, and the one relative to the navigation of the Canals by steamboats. The bill to regulate the sale of liquors in this City was reported unfavorably. The resolution of the Senate providing for a reorganization of the Judiciary was made the special order for to-day. The Registry Law bill was then debated.

Lynch law was threatened in Ithaca on Friday last, in the case of a man named EDWARD H. BULLOFF, who has been twice convicted of the murder of his wife and child, and who has recently been granted a new trial. The Sheriff, for fear of consequences, was forced to hurry the prisoner out of the county. A meeting of the citizens had been called for Saturday, to take measures for summary punishment.

The two California steamers—the mail steamer Illinois, which left on the 7th, and the opposition steamer Northern Light, on the 10th of this month, carried, together, about one thousand passengers, of which the Illinois had nearly eight hundred. The fare in the steerage was given out at $60 by the mail steamer, and $50 by the opposition, but it is asserted on good authority that a large number actually received through tickets for twenty-five dollars. This is the price paid by the respective companies for the transit of the Isthmus. A large rush is anticipated for the steamers of the 5th and 11th of April.

A meeting of citizens of Richmond County, in favor of the removal of Quarantine, was held at Castleton on Saturday [illegible] presiding. Resolutions were adopted protesting against the continuance of Quarantine on Staten Island, praying the Legislature for its immediate removal, expressive of confidence in the new Quarantine Commission and thanking Governor MORGAN for its creation, and appointing a Committee to press the question of removal upon the attention of the Legislature.

LOUIS BEHR, said to be a Prussian nobleman, formerly an officer in the Prussian army, and who has for several years been attached to the Prussian Legation, committed suicide yesterday morning at the Shakespeare Hotel by shooting himself through the heart with a pistol. He left a statement alleging that apprehension that he was troubled with disease of the heart, and a failure to receive remittances from Texas where he owns large estates, impelled him to the act of self-destruction.

The City Inspector's report for the week ending Saturday, the 12th, at noon, exhibits an increase in the mortality of the City of ten deaths over the week previous. Notwithstanding this increase of deaths there is a marked diminution in the deaths from diseases of the throat and lungs usually prevalent at this season of the year.

The trial of JAMES STEPHENS for the murder of his wife was continued on Saturday (being the sixth day) in the Court of Oyer and Terminer. The witnesses examined were DR. DETMOLD, DR. FORDYCE BARKER, DR. ALANSON JONES and DR. MCCREADY. They testified respecting the effects of arsenic on the human system, and to the symptoms of such poison. Ex-Coroner CONNERY was also examined concerning the exhumation of the remains. The prosecution will probably finish their case to-day.

Among our law reports will be found a report of the case of GREGORY vs. GREGORY, involving a partnership claim of unusual interest. JOHN and WILLIAM GREGORY were engaged in business together for some twenty years, in this City, as dealers in tin and sheet-iron ware. A large property was accumulated, some $75,000, out of the profits of their business. The business was conducted and the profits invested in the name of "JOHN GREGORY." JOHN lately died, and WILLIAM now claims to share the property standing in his name, on the ground that he was partner with his brother. The conflict of testimony on this question is remarkable.

A sporting man named JOHN HYLER, who was concerned in the Poole tragedy at Stanwix Hall four years ago, gave bail on Saturday to answer the charge of bigamy preferred by his first wife. The matter will be investigated before Justice WELSH.

On Saturday the sales of Cotton amounted to 6,500 bales, including about 2,500 bales in transit. Prices advanced about ⅛c. per lb. Flour and Wheat were in fair demand, and were generally held higher. Corn was in good request and was dearer. The movements in Groceries and Provisions were less extensive. Pork improved in price. Common Rosin was freely purchased, chiefly to arrive. Other branches of trade exhibited no very important changes. The total number of vessels of all classes in port was 560.

Plundering the City.

We are glad to learn that Mayor TIEMANN has set on foot investigations which must result in a thorough overhauling and revision of the five hundred and odd iniquitous judgments which already figure in the City tax levy for the present year. In a few days we may expect a complete list of the men who have "staked out" claims in this civic placer; the exact amount of "dust" which each claimant has made arrangements to secure; the nature of the false pretences on which the suits have been instituted; the names of the attorneys for the claimants, and the methods by which judgment has been obtained against the City.

In such a list it will be not a little amusing and instructive to find the same few favored lawyers forever employed, sometimes as "impartial Referees," deciding every case against the City with full amounts claimed, interest and costs; and again as Attorneys for private plaintiffs, suing the City and obtaining from other "impartial Referees," or by default, full costs and interest and amounts originally claimed. Mr. MERWIN R. BREWER, who acted as Referee in a case which he decided against the City, although the Supreme Court had given judgment against the plaintiff in a case exactly parallel, has been singularly fortunate in the number of suits which have been allowed to go by default in his favor. One of these is so peculiar and so agreeably illustrative of the whole proceedings, that even at the risk of anticipating Mayor TIEMANN'S revelations, we must here insert the items, as they appear upon the judgment-roll of the Marine Court.

A gentleman named THOMAS CARROLL sues the City for "legal disbursements," and employs Mr. MERWIN R. BREWER to prosecute this literally legal claim. The rest is told in six words—"Judgment for the plaintiff by default." Now we know that a namesake of the plaintiff in this case is the confidential assistant of Mr. RICHARD BUSTEED in the arduous labor of defending the City against unfounded and extortionate demands; and we also know that the Corporation Counsel is allowed many thousand dollars a year for his services and expenses in performing this business. What then are we to think of this extraordinary claim; and why was not the name of "Thomas Carroll" inserted amongst the "one hundred and sixty judgments to be paid," for which Comptroller HAWS so earnestly requested an appropriation? It is probable, perhaps, that THOMAS CARROLL, Esq., of the Corporation Counsel's Office, entertained a proper fear lest he should be confounded with the other "Thomas Carroll," not Esquire, who employed Mr. M. R. BREWER as his Attorney to prosecute a claim which THOMAS CARROLL, Esq., allowed to go by default! As BURTON lucidly observes in his play of "The Toodles," "it couldn't have been that man, but another man we once knew."

This is only a small sample-brick from a mighty pyramid; and it must be confessed that Mr. BREWER has managed to "ring himself in" on corporation cases to an extent not easily credible. His clients, moreover, must have had claims of the most righteous character—not inferior, it may be presumed, to those of "THOMAS CARROLL;" as we find that in three out of every five suits brought against the City by this eminently "impartial Referee," the Corporation Counsel entered no appearance, and judgment was taken by default! The firm of STILLWELL & SWAIN, in the same way, have chanced upon a clientage embracing not less than two hundred and twenty patriots wickedly defrauded by the City Government, and the "impracticable prejudices" of the late Comptroller, out of vast amounts. It gives us pleasure to be able to announce that every claimant on this client-roll has obtained all he sued for, and a good deal more, under an arrangement entered into by the parties interested for the non-production of important witnesses. The remaining lawyers, who seem to have profited most largely by this new mode of gaining access to the City Treasury, are men rarely or never heard of in any of the more familiar walks of the legal profession.

We await the revelations to be made by Mayor TIEMANN with no common interest, and earnestly hope that the Legislature will not act upon those judgments until the Street Department shall have had an opportunity of interposing the defences which it must have furnished to the Corporation Counsel,—but which that officer seems to have neglected to use in Court. Fully three-fourths of the claims thus far investigated are alleged to have arisen under the action of the Street Department; but neither persons, books nor papers were sent for during the so-called "trials;" and in certain cases where evidence in favor of the City was volunteered by the proper officer, the offer of such evidence was contemptuously rejected and ignored.

It will be seen, by reference to the proceedings at Albany during the past two weeks, that the troublesome honesty of the Street Department has set in motion a vigorous campaign for the destruction of that Department. The contractors, the City litigants, and their congenial friends, the "shysters," the banditti of the lobby and the chain-gangs of the Park, the Pettigrews, the Devlins and the civic desperadoes in general—all these are now beleaguering sympathetic and inexperienced members of the Legislature with propositions for the removal of this "obstruction," and the disintegration of its dangerously analytic machinery. Unhappily, too, the present Comptroller is understood to lend his influence to this movement; and, unless our citizens make themselves heard in behalf of the only Department which has yet taken a vigorous, bold and effective course in opposition to public peculation, we much fear that the same influences which are now at work in Albany for the purpose of extending our present Corporation Counsel's term of office for three years from the 31st of next December, will succeed not only in this—their primary object—but also in breaking down that Department, from which alone the Corporation Counsel would seem to have anything really to fear.

The News from Mexico.

In a country like Mexico, where the important evils of the country are made up of a complicated series of trifling matters, a battle wherein one hundred men are lost and three cannon are taken is a tremendous event at any time. At the present juncture of Mexican affairs, it is a circumstance fraught with consequences of the gravest character. The loss of one hundred, or even of fifty men, in a Mexican army of five thousand men, is more than sufficient to put it entirely to rout; and when a Mexican army is once routed, it is not an easy matter to renew or reorganize it.

It is not more than a fortnight ago that MIRAMON was stated to be in the plenitude of power, and of as much glory as the position of a Mexican General can command. He was decreeing forced loans in all directions, and was confident of soon achieving a decisive victory over the Liberals at Vera Cruz. These latter were described as in a state of despondency, and as almost despairing to make any head against their more powerful enemy from the Capital. The news from Mexico published to-day, however, places matters in an entirely new light, and promises brighter things for the Liberal Party. MIRAMON'S army having lost one hundred men and two cannon, is said to be entirely routed. The telegraph adds to the list of losses one hundred muskets, but as these probably belonged to the hundred men reported as hors de combat, we presume their addition to the list to be due rather to Mexican love of amplification than to any additional gain on the part of the Liberals.

This rout of MIRAMON vastly increases the chances of success for JUAREZ. If it were even possible for the former to organize another army in the service of the Church Party, it would require some weeks to accomplish it, at the end of which period the yellow fever season will have set in at Vera Cruz, and unacclimated troops could not be taken thither. JUAREZ will, therefore, have been relieved from anxiety in the direction of the sea-coast, whence he obtains all his resources, and the Liberal forces will be better able to turn their attention to the troops of the Church Party in the interior. This advantage must accrue to the Liberal Party for the next few months,—namely, that they run no risk in a sanitary point of view from attacking the enemy, while the reactionist armies cannot descend to the plains of the sea-coast without exposing themselves to the risk of the fell disease common to the climate in the hot season. Already it is reported that DEGOLLADO was preparing to march upon the City of Mexico with ten thousand men, and if the rout of the President's army were as complete as the telegraph reports it to be, the Liberal army will be likely to meet with but little serious opposition. The division of Colonel MIRAMON, the brother of the President, had already been beaten, and the means obtainable by forced loans for the purpose of creating a new army would appear to have been pretty well exhausted in the late effort. There seems, then, to exist every probability that the capital must soon fall into the hands of the Liberals.

Should such an event really take place, there can be little doubt that Mr. MCLANE will avail of the opportunity which will thus be afforded him to act as the prevailing sentiment of his countrymen would have him act—namely, by recognizing the Liberal Government of JUAREZ, to afford it the moral support which such recognition would convey. There can be possible objection to the countenance of the United States of the Juarez Government after it shall have established itself in the capital of the country.

M. Belly and Nicaragua.

M. FELIX BELLY is felix indeed in this—that, unlike most prophets, he has abundant honor in his own country to compensate him for any lack of faith he may have met with among the outer barbarians. On the 17th of February this distinguished priest of enterprise sailed from Southampton with a company of thirty-three acolytes for the purpose of uniting the Atlantic and Pacific seas in commercial wedlock. He carried with him a retinue of apothecaries, photographers, policemen and princes, with a strong force of secretaries, engineers, sappers and miners, carpenters and blacksmiths; and he had sent before him as heralds, to cry in the Central American wilderness, two "superior officers of the British Army." Nothing that could give dignity to the departure of this formidable expedition was wanting, and when one compares the account of M. BELLY'S sailing from Southampton with the simple story of that departure from the little port of Palos which made COLUMBUS immortal and the Presidency of Mr. BUCHANAN possible, it is not easy to resist a thrill of pardonable pride in the moral superiority of modern times.

On the eve of departure M. VILLETTE DE TERZE, Treasurer of the Committee on the Isthmian Canal, handed to M. LEVASSEUR, ex-Minister of France to Mexico, and "chef de comptabilité" in the new enterprise, a "certain number of gold pieces, bearing the effigies of NAPOLEON III. and Queen VICTORIA, with the date of 1858;" and M. BELLY had a "final interview," before he left, with M. THOMÉ DE GAMOND, at which, as we are assured by the faithful French chronicler of the event, "two men embraced each other, the one animated by that spirit of ardent enterprise which is in harmony with the wants of the New World; the other fortified with that calm, reflective wisdom which is more especially appropriate to the [illegible] of Europe." After this imposing ceremony, the thirty-three, with their chief, and "six hundred pieces of luggage, including ten cases of the finest engineering instruments," went on board the Parana, "not less valiant than modest, and in a silent concentration of soul as became men penetrated with the grandeur of their mission," and unfamiliar, we may presume, for the most part, with the pangs and perils of the sea. From all which it is lawful and reasonable to infer that there will be a very fine show indeed at the City of Rivas on the 27th day of this current month of March, when the Presidents of Nicaragua and Costa Rica will meet the peaceful invaders, to hand over to them the control of the communication that is yet to be made, and to lay with them the "first stone of the great Nicaragua Canal." Whether the said first stone so laid shall ever be hatched into a ship-canal navigable for vessels of the largest dimensions, is a question of prophecy upon which we do not care to enter. It would, however, certainly appear that the place of M. MILLAUD, who bought himself out of the Belly scheme, some time since, for the sum of sixty thousand francs, has been filled by some more daring or less suspicious financier. Funds are plainly forthcoming from some quarter, and when the work shall have made some serious progress toward completion, the stock, we may venture to foretell, will begin to be in demand even in this country.

Possibly some New-York capitalists may have already made their arrangements for pushing matters on towards that desirable point. If so, we wish them all success; for whoever may build the Canal, it is we of America who will use it and reap the final rich reward of M. BELLY'S pains and pleasures, of his feastings at Managua, his pageants at Rivas, his agonies in Paris, his embraces at Southampton and his suffering on the sea. Meanwhile, should nothing more ever come of the whole business than a brisk rally of Bulls and Bears over the stock, and an eventual retreat of M. BELLY from the field, with a neat per centage on his own investment of nothing in particular, the world will at least have had a sensation, and the Presidents of Nicaragua and Costa Rica a good speech-making, rocket-firing, champagne-consuming festivity.

Economy at Albany.

On the 23d of June, 1853, the Legislature passed "An Act to aid in the erection of a monument commemorative of the Declaration of American Independence," which act provided for the appointment of a trustee or agent who should join with the like trustees or agents on the part of other States, not less than eight in number of the original thirteen, to determine the plan, design, materials, and expense of a monument to be erected in Independence Square, Philadelphia, this State to pay its proportion of the cost.

On Wednesday morning, Governor MORGAN recommended by message the repeal of that law. The State, he said, would soon be called upon to pay its share, amounting to $50,000 and upwards.

Two reasons are given by the Governor why it should recede from its agreement. The first is that the Treasury is empty; and the second that Independence Hall is itself all the monument which the case requires. Some day or other, when the State is better off, he suggests, she may willingly contribute, but not now.

This recommendations of the Executive may be demanded by the condition of the finances; but the necessity which prompts it is by no means creditable. Until she is able to pay such debts, might it not be well for New-York to drop that imperial title which her citizens are so fond of applying?

A MASSACHUSETTS CANDIDATE FOR THE PRESIDENCY.—The Boston Journal, which occupies somewhat of an independent position in political affairs, has been reviewing the probabilities of all the prominent candidates of all parties for a nomination for the presidency, and it arrives at the conclusion that Governor BANKS "occupies a very strong position." Mr. SEWARD, the Journal thinks, will probably receive the largest number of votes at the first ballotting in the Convention; but not enough to give him the nomination. Judging from the indications in the Springfield Republican, and other papers, it would seem that the sentiment of Massachusetts is setting strongly towards Governor BANKS as the Republican candidate at the next Presidential contest. His discreet conduct since his election as Governor has greatly increased his popularity in his own State.

Amusements.

THEATRE FRANCAIS.—Whether by the attraction of the débutante, Mademoiselle SEHN, at the Theatre Francais, o Saturday night, or by the charms of the pieces selected, we are unable to say, but that pretty little comfit-box was most uncomfortably crowded, and the doors had been opened but a very short time before a notice was posted up stating that no more tickets could be sold. It was the first night of the delightful comédie-vaudeville in two acts, "Les Premières Armes de Richelieu," the youthful Duke being personated by Mademoiselle SEHN. It is most difficult to form an opinion of so very womanlike an actress from seeing her in a "breeches part," but, judging from the finished style in which Mademoiselle SEHN personated the rather wicked young Duke, we should say that she has not played second in vain to the Déjazet's first. Mademoiselle CHEVALIER was very ingénue in the part of Diane de Noailles, and to-morrow night the same piece will be repeated, when these two ladies will change their rôles—CHEVALIER personating the Duke, and SEHN, Diane. Mademoiselle DUPONT was and will be the most amusing of possible bourgeoises in the part of the Baronne born the Widow Patin.

The subscribers to this enterprise are urged to meet at the Theatre to-night for the purpose of effecting some arrangement which may put an end to all disagreement between themselves and the well-meaning Directors in regard to the allotment of seats.

NIBLO'S GARDEN.—In addition to the very complete and admirable Equestrian troupe of the Messrs. NIXON, the management here has engaged the valuable services of Mr. VAN AMBURGH and his celebrated menagerie, including the famous elephant "Tippoo Saib." A programme of rare diversity is, therefore, prepared for to-night. The performances commence at 7½ o'clock.

WALLACK'S THEATRE.—Once a year it is our privilege to repeat our deliberate opinion that Mr. LESTER WALLACK is the best light comedian in America. The gentleman enjoys a benefit, and we enjoy a satisfaction. This benefit takes place to-night, and we commend it to the attention of the public. The drama called "The Veteran," (written by Mr. LESTER WALLACK) will be performed for the forty-ninth time.

LAURA KEENE'S THEATRE.—Our evergreen Cousin on the American side will be repeated to-night for the one hundred and thirtieth time; the performances conclude with the farce called "Mr. and Mrs. Peter White."

BROADWAY THEATRE.—The very successful—and we may add—deserving revival of "Antony and Cleopatra," at this house, has been witnessed by large audiences during the past week, and is, therefore, announced for repetition until further notice. It is worth seeing.

BOWERY THEATRE.—"Our English Cousin," "The Three Guardsmen," and "Mazeppa the Second," are announced for performance.

MATINEE.—Mr. and Mrs. VANDENHOFF will give a Matinée at Dodworth's Saloon to-day, at 1 o'clock. BULWER'S Comedy of "Money" is selected for the occasion.

NATIONAL THEATRE.—Mr. J. B. ROBERTS the eminent tragedian has been engaged by the energetic manager of this establishment, and will appear to-night as Richard the Third in the play of that name. A comedy called "Our Irish Cousin" will also be given.

BARNUM'S MUSEUM.—The excellent domestic drama called "The Harvest Home" will be produced here to-night, with the full strength of the company. After this the drama of the "Dumb Man of Manchester."

WOOD'S MINSTRELS.—An unusually attractive and excellent programme is provided here to-night.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

INTERESTING FROM WASHINGTON.

President Jefferson's Cuban Policy—An Extra Session of Congress Certain—The Advices from Mexico and the Tehuantepec Contractors—The Sickles Case, &c.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, March 13.

The disclosures made by Commodore CHARLES STEWART respecting the Cuban policy of Mr. JEFFERSON'S Administration were drawn out in reply to a communication from Commodore KEARNY, and were not addressed to Mr. BUCHANAN, but only submitted for his consideration.

Mr. BUCHANAN declared to a Southern Senator last evening that he had determined to call an extra session of Congress, and would issue his Proclamation within ten days. The time will be determined on Tuesday in Cabinet; but it will not be earlier than the 1st of August. The majority of the Cabinet are opposed to an extra session, having secured their own appropriations. Postmaster-General HOLT takes his seat in the Cabinet on Tuesday for the first time, and will insist on the extra session. He will have with him the official figures called for by the President, showing the absolute necessity for further legislation by Congress prior to the regular meeting. Mr. BUCHANAN will then announce his determination, and ask for the time to be fixed not earlier than August. This will give every State time to be represented.

The news from Mexico alarms the Tehuantepec gentlemen. It is currently reported that Messrs. SLIDELL and BENJAMIN prevented the recognition of Señor MATA, when they ascertained that he could not be used by them. The Liberal Government opposes the monopoly of the Isthmus, and will annul the present arrangement. It is also said here this evening that the Tehuantepec interest secured Mr. MCLANE'S appointment, and that he will recognize MIRAMON if the slightest opportunity offers itself, unless the Liberals yield the monopoly of the Transit to the present contractors.

Senator GWIN will leave on Friday for New-York, en route for California.

The Grand Jury expect to take action in the Sickles case to-morrow. Q.

[FROM THE REPORTER FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Saturday, March 12.

The exhibit of the affairs of the Post-office Department, prepared by direction of the President, was submitted to him to-day. It shows that its means were insufficient to meet the demands due on the quarter ending December last, and that the Department is already six months in arrears. The present deficiency is at least five millions.

Mr. HOLT to-day formally resigned the office of Commissioner of Patents. The address on behalf of the employees of that bureau was eloquently responded to by him. He will enter on his duties as Postmaster-General on Monday, as yesterday intimated.

General DENVER has resigned the Commissionership of Indian Affairs.

EDWARD H. BULLOFF, who has been twice convicted of the murder of his wife and child, and has recently been granted a new trial, was yesterday run out of the county by the Sheriff, who stood in fear of a mob. A meeting of the citizens of the county had been called for to-day, (Saturday,) to take measures to summarily punish the criminal. Officers started for Auburn last night to arrest and bring BULLOFF back; and he is confidently expected back by the people assembled here to-day. Great excitement prevails in the village, and a riot appears unavoidable.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

THE REV. DR. CHEEVER ON SLAVERY.—The Church of the Rev. Dr. CHEEVER, in Union Square, was filled last evening to listen to a discourse—the [illegible] of the series—on the subject of American Slavery. He read portions of the 58th and 59th chapters of Isaiah, which he expounded, showing how perfectly they portrayed the sins of this nation, and [illegible] the judgments of God which would fall upon us for oppression. His text was selected from the 1st and 2d verses of the 58th chapter of Isaiah: "Cry aloud, spare not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and show my people their transgression, and the house of Jacob their sins. Yet they seek me daily, and delight to know my ways, as a nation that did righteousness, and forsook not the ordinance of their God: they ask of me the ordinances of justice—they take delight in approaching to God." The greatest [illegible] and the greatest professed [illegible] and piety, said the speaker, may go together. The picture drawn by the Prophet [illegible] so graphic that, had these chapters been written for us, they could not have portrayed more faithfully our national crimes, and at the same time the course pursued by professing Christians to escape responsibility, and cover up the iniquity; the daily prayer-meetings throughout this City, and in other places, where the subject of our grand and overshadowing sin is never alluded to, and where it is forbidden to speak or even pray for the slave, were an exact counterpart of the solemn assemblies of the Jews, referred to by the Prophet, in which they fasted and prayed that they might smite with the fist of wickedness. He proceeded to discuss the question of Slavery in its legislative features, and in its relation to the churches of our country. Slavery was the perpetual re-enactment, day by day, of the crimes of piracy and manstealing. There was no comparison between the evils of Intemperance and Slavery. The race of drunkards runs out every three years, while Slavery is transmitted from one generation to another, and propagates and perpetuates itself. While the sin was spreading and its evils getting faster hold upon us, the [illegible] of crime and the consequences of sin deepening. He cared not to deal with it as anything else than sin. The passage of laws in nearly all our territories for the protection of Slave property was referred to as proof of a degenerating public sentiment. In New-Mexico, one of thirty provisions lately adopted made it impossible for a slave, or a colored person, to testify in any case against a white man. The churches were mainly charged with the present corrupt and perverted public sentiment upon this sin. There were more than twenty churches in this City where the slave was never prayed for, and the subject was a forbidden one for fear of its disturbing effects. Another sermon will complete the present series.

SUICIDES IN THE CITY DURING TWO DAYS.—Yesterday morning Col. LOUIS BEHR, formerly connected with the Prussian army, committed suicide at the Shakespeare Hotel in William-street. A few moments before the commission of the deed he was conversing cheerfully with several friends in the bar-room. Suddenly excusing himself, he went to his room, and a moment afterwards the report of a pistol was heard. He was found lying on the floor with the pistol grasped in his right hand, having shot himself through the heart. He appeared to have died instantly. He left a letter explaining the cause of the suicide, stating that he had suffered for some time with a severe pain in the region of the heart, which, with a failure in receiving remittances, had rendered him despondent and impelled him to self-destruction. Coroner JACKMAN held an inquest upon the body. The evidence was brief and corroborated the facts stated. It was shown further, however, that the deceased was of noble birth, for years an officer in the Prussian Army, and was recently an attaché of the Prussian Legation. He was 46 years of age, and came to this country about 15 years ago. He has lived most of the time in Texas, and is reported to be an extensive land-owner there. He was unmarried, and so far as known has no relations in this country. A verdict of suicide by shooting was rendered, and the body given in charge of his friends for interment. On Friday night a man who gave his name as Robert Siller applied for lodgings at the Twelfth Ward Station-house, which was furnished him. On Saturday morning he departed with the other lodgers. In half an hour afterwards he leaped into the East River, and was drowned before assistance reached him. Nothing is known of his antecedent history, but the presumption is that destitution and want impelled him to self-destruction. [illegible], the wife of an Ethiopian minstrel, residing at No. 10 Prince-street, attempted suicide by swallowing laudanum. She was removed to the City Hospital, a stomach-pump applied, and the poisonous liquid removed. She says that she was married eight months ago, and that the recent neglect of her husband induced her to attempt self-destruction.

MEETING OF SEWING WOMEN.—An important movement has been inaugurated among the sewing women of the City, which, if it is carried out in the proper spirit, will be productive of much good. At the last monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the American Industrial Association, a Committee was appointed to examine a plan proposed by the Corresponding Secretary for improving the condition of the sewing women of New-York and Brooklyn by providing them with sewing machines, and boarding and lodging houses. A meeting was convened last week to receive the report of the Committee. After expressing thanks for the offers of aid which they had received, the Committee recommended the renting of a room at No. 29 Fourth-avenue at a rent of $150 per annum. They concurred with the Directors of the Association in recommending rules to the following effect: That applicants for admission to the work-room must be of good character and properly recommended; that they must be in the employ of some manufacturing establishment, and that they must bring their own work; that each occupant of the work-room must pay a certain amount from her weekly earnings for room-rent, use of machines, &c., and that to secure the prompt payment of this sum the employer of each occupant shall deduct from her weekly earnings a certain amount which shall be handed over to the Treasurer of the Association. Each operator will also have the privilege of paying any amount she may see fit toward the purchase of the machine she uses. Until it is fully paid for, however, it is not to be removed from the room. A suitable Superintendent is to be engaged by the Directors. Widows with children, or females who have relatives dependent on their efforts, shall have the preference as applicants.

THE CALIFORNIA PASSENGER TRADE—OPPOSITION AND LOW FARE.—The two steamers for California—the Illinois which left on the 7th, and the Northern Light on the 10th of this month—carried, together, about one thousand passengers, the last and the regular mail steamer having nearly eight hundred, and the opposition two hundred and forty through passengers. The advertised fare was sixty dollars by the mail line and by the opposition, fifty dollars, for through tickets and found. It is stated, however, on good authority, that a large portion of the steerage passengers, on both steamers, were taken below these prices, and a great many as low as twenty-five dollars—the price only of the tickets for crossing the Isthmus. But for the gold excitement about Pike's Peak, these ruinously low prices would increase the California travel, particularly of the cheap class, enormously. As it is, both lines will no doubt have more people than they can carry, as those intending to visit California will avail themselves of the present low fare. As the steamers will probably be filled up long before the regular day of sailing, those who wish to secure passage should do so in advance. Those who are familiar with the affairs of the competing lines, state that there is no appearance of a settlement of the difficulties, while others assert that a compromise will soon be patched up, and the opposition [illegible].

NIGHT TRAIN BETWEEN NEW-YORK AND BOSTON.—There is complaint of the want of a night mail train between this City and Boston. The Boston Commercial Bulletin remarks: "The passenger travel now profitably employs three steamboat routes and one land route profitably. A night train, with sleeping cars attached, would insure the transmission of letters between Bangor and Washington twenty-four hours earlier, between Boston and Washington twelve hours earlier, and would give the Boston or New-York business men all day long in either city for the transaction of business. For instance, [illegible] left Boston for New-York at 9½ or 10 P. M., passengers and the mails that left Bangor and Portland in the morning would arrive in New-York the following morning, in Philadelphia at noon, and Washington the next evening, allowing time for meals on the route. An arrangement for a night train like this would not only be satisfactory and convenient to the business public, but remunerative to the corporation."

GYMNASTICS.—The concluding exercises of the first exhibition of [illegible] Gymnasium, Bayard-street, corner of Bowery, were given Friday evening. There was a fine band of music in attendance and a large audience. An address was delivered by E. T. HISCOX, D.D. The exercises were led by Professor [illegible], and some of the gymnasts displayed wonderful agility and strength in their performances. Mr. J. [illegible] put up the 56-pound bell with each hand. Professor [illegible] and W. B. [illegible] performed some feats on the double trapeze which displayed on their part immense muscular strength, and Messrs. [illegible], CRAWFORD, CAMP, and others, greatly distinguished themselves. An afternoon class, composed of boys, evinced by their personal appearance and performances the value of the training they had received [illegible] through their exertions were [illegible] much less [illegible] and better suited to their years. The [illegible] disappeared shortly after 10 P. M., [illegible]

FISHING-POLES IN NEW-YORK BAY.—Governor MORGAN's veto of the bill to permit inhabitants of New-Utrecht to set poles and stakes in certain portions of New-York Bay, from which they are now excluded by the law of 1857, assigns the following reasons for his objections: "If the Harbor Commissioners should exercise the power given to them, the utmost that they could do would be to carry the line to the shores of Staten Island at the Narrows. Should this be done it would perhaps be doubtful whether the inhabitants of New-Utrecht would not have the power to place stakes entirely across the channel directly at the Narrows. My objections to this bill are briefly that it gives rights that ought not to be granted to any one without control, and which I feel sure would not have been granted had the members of the Legislature examined the bill more carefully, and been more fully acquainted with the locality. But if granted to any one, the grant should not be limited to the inhabitants of a single town, and should be carefully defined by unambiguous provisions."

CHARGE OF ABANDONMENT AGAINST POLICEMAN WEIPE.—Mrs. MARTHA B. WEIPE made an affidavit before the Mayor, Saturday, setting forth that her husband, Officer JOHN H. WEIPE, of the Second Precinct, who stands charged with being connected with a house of prostitution in Canal-street, abandoned her last Monday, and she was obliged to go to the disreputable house, No. 464 Canal-street, the upper part of which was kept by a woman, named [illegible], and the lower part by Policeman WEIPE, who lived with a woman named MARGARET [illegible]. Mrs. WEIPE further stated that she had heard that Policeman WEIPE intended to go to California if she had him arrested, and she asked that a warrant be issued for his arrest. She was sent to Justice WELSH, who declined to issue a warrant for the policeman's arrest, because he had not staid away from her long enough to justify his apprehension on a charge of abandonment.

MOCK AUCTION CASES DISPOSED OF.—Several mock auction cases were disposed of by the Mayor, Saturday. The amounts lost by the duped ones in these cases varied from $20 to $100. ALBERT S. [illegible], of No. 125 Broadway, was the party complained of in all the cases except one, in which the proprietor of No. 89 Broadway was charged with defrauding a man out of $45. In each case the auctioneers were compelled to refund the money to the swindled ones. The Mayor says that in these cases those who get into trouble always allow themselves to be taken through a course of [illegible] which wholly does away with the false pretense phase of the operation, and it is impossible, in many instances, to ascertain in what the misrepresentation in a given case consisted; until some of the pretended "jewelers" are arrested with the [illegible], it will be difficult to bring any of the parties engaged in these swindles to justice.

CAMPHENE LAMP EXPLOSIONS.—Mrs. JNO. CUNNINGHAM, residing at No. 101 West Thirty-third-street was severely burned on Friday evening by the explosion of a camphene lamp. She was filling the lamp with one of the wicks lighted—an act of culpable recklessness causing nearly all this kind of accidents—when the fluid ignited, exploding the lamp and communicating the burning fluid over the clothes of Mrs. C. and her little child who was standing by her side. The woman caught up the child and ran into the yard, where a neighbor stripped them of their burning clothing. Both were severely burned, but neither are thought to be fatally injured. [illegible], a servant girl living at No. 61 Greenwich-street, was badly, if not fatally, burned on Saturday [illegible] from carelessly filling a lighted lamp in the same manner as Mrs. CUNNINGHAM. She was taken to the City Hospital.

THE TEHUANTEPEC STEAMER—CHANGE IN THE DAY OF SAILING.—The steamship Coatzacoalcos, Capt. [illegible], which was advertised to leave this port for Havana and New-Orleans on the 16th inst., has had the time of sailing postponed one week, to Wednesday, 23d inst., when she will positively depart. The change in the day of sailing was rendered necessary to afford more time to complete arrangements. She takes no passengers for California from this port, but only to Havana and New-Orleans. At the latter port she takes the place of the steamship Quaker City, now plying to Minatitlan, and carrying the mails and passengers of the Tehuantepec route. She also takes freight for New-Orleans, a considerable quantity of which has already been received. To Havana she carries no freight except in specie.

ACCIDENT FROM THE WIND.—The heavy gale of wind which prevailed early on Saturday morning [illegible] sign over Mr. DE WITT's book-store, No. [illegible] Nassau-street, and sent it dashing to the pavement. THOMAS DUNN, a waiter employed in the [illegible] saloon No. 17 [illegible]-street, happened to be passing at the time, and was hit by the descending sign. He was picked up insensible, conveyed to the City Hospital, and given in charge of Dr. [illegible], the House-Surgeon. His injuries proved not to be so serious as were at first supposed. [illegible] of his injuries.

CONGREGATIONAL SINGING IN BROOKLYN.—A lecture on Congregational Singing was delivered in the Reformed Dutch Chapel, in Harrison-street, Brooklyn, on Monday evening, Feb. 28, by Professor LOWELL MASON, of this City. At its close, a Committee of five persons was chosen, one from each of five Evangelical denominations, to take measures to procure a prize tract on the subject. It is the intention of this Committee to offer a premium of $50 for one which shall, in the judgment of a Committee of pastors of Evangelical churches of this City, be entitled to the award.

MOVEMENT AMONG THE GERMAN CABINET MAKERS.—Meetings of the German piano-forte makers and carvers were held on Saturday night. The former assembled at No. 251 Grand-street, the latter at the Steuben House in the Bowery. The object in both cases was the same, viz., an increase in the rate of wages. The workmen demand 15 per cent. additional, and the demand has, in several instances, been complied with. The determination was unanimously arrived at last night to keep up the agitation until the whole body of employers accede to the terms required.

STEALING A MAN'S WIFE AND STOCK IN TRADE.—HENRY OSTE, a German, who keeps a clothing store at No. 28 Rose-street, on Saturday missed his wife and two hundred dollars worth of ready-made clothing. Subsequent inquiry developed the fact that BERNARD VAN TAIN, another German, had eloped with the missing wife and carried with him the missing garments. The lost clothing was found, but not the lost wife. VAN TAIN was locked up in the Tombs by Justice CONNOLLY.

CHILD THROWN OUT OF A THIRD-STORY WINDOW BY AN INSANE MOTHER.—Mrs. JULIA REMIS, who resides at No. [illegible] Canal-street, for some time past has been subject to attacks of temporary mental aberration. On Saturday evening while suffering from one of these attacks, she threw her son, a child about a year old, out of a third-story window. The child lived but a short time afterwards. Coroner SCHIRMER held an inquest and a verdict was rendered in accordance with the above facts.

THE ERIE RAILROAD TUNNEL AT BERGEN.—Work on the Bergen Tunnel is going forward briskly. A large force of men is on the ground, and as soon as the shafts are pumped dry blasting will be resumed. The pumps are now working in the second shaft, which has a depth of something like 70 feet in it, and communicating with the greater part (some 1,200 feet) of the tunnel, furnishes a point of operation from which it will not be necessary to remove the pumping apparatus until the entire drainage is completed. Some 25 feet of water has already been drawn off.

WARM WEATHER.—Yesterday was altogether the finest day of the season, so far. Fires were a positive discomfort, overcoats were discarded, and the evening, but little cooler than the day, was warm and pleasant as early Summer. Immense crowds took advantage of the leisure of the day to visit the Central Park, the cars running full till a late hour. As usual on a fine Sunday, the accommodations for City railroad travel were quite insufficient.

MUTINY AND ARREST.—Five seamen, belonging to the ship Columbia, Capt. BRYAN, were arrested yesterday morning by the Harbor Police upon a charge of mutiny and revolt, preferred by the Captain. Their names are ROBERT TAYLOR, WILLIAM CLARK, JOHN WILSON, THOMAS GOLDEN and WILLIAM [illegible]. They were committed for examination by order of the United States Marshal, and will probably be brought before a United States Commissioner.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.—On Saturday, Coroner [illegible] took the ante-mortem statement of Mrs. CARROLL, of No. [illegible] Houston-street, who was shot on Friday night by her son, WM. CARROLL, as heretofore reported. She stated that the shooting was entirely accidental, and her statement was corroborated by others. It is probable that she will survive her injuries.

ALLEGED FRAUD BY A WALL-STREET BROKER.—Nicholas Philo de Young, a Wall-street broker, is charged with having palmed off a worthless check for $15 on a Mr. FORREST, doing business at No. 212 Broadway. Since the passing of the check De Young has not been found. The victim of the check speculation preferred a complaint against the broker on Friday, and Justice WELSH issued a warrant for his arrest.

NEW CHURCH EDIFICE.—The Trustees of the Sullivan-street Methodist Episcopal Church have secured eligible lots on Fourth-street, near the Washington Parade Ground, and will commence building a new church on the 1st of May. The congregation will continue worship in the old building for the present.

NEW-YORK HOSPITAL.—There were received at the New-York Hospital during the week ending Friday last, 30 patients; 20 were discharged; 4 died, and [illegible] remain. Of the number remaining in the institution, 213 are males and 53 females.

SHAD.—Two fine shad, the first in our waters this season, were caught Friday evening by GEORGE [illegible], of Staten Island.

[illegible]

A YOUNG SPORTING MAN ARRESTED [illegible].—Mr. John Hyler, a well known sporting man of this City, who became somewhat notorious in connection with the murder of Bill Poole at Stanwix Hall, [illegible] was arrested last week on a charge of bigamy [illegible] his wife, Mrs. Augusta Hyler, [illegible] before Justice WELSH, that her husband married, in June last, a Miss [illegible] Spencer, residing at No. [illegible] Elizabeth-street, [illegible] the time, the [illegible] On these affidavits the magistrate granted a warrant for the arrest of Hyler, and Officer Smith, of the City Hall Precinct, soon took him into custody. He was committed to the Tombs, whence he was released on Saturday on $1,000 bail. Mr. Jeremiah Young, of Canal-street, became his surety. The complainant, who is a very beautiful woman, it is said, had not lived with her husband for some time previous to his marriage with Miss Spencer. The accused admits the charge, but alleges that the second marriage was performed while he was under the influence of liquor, and was not considered by him to be a bona fide marriage. It is said that the clergyman who performed the ceremony received as a fee for his services a three-dollar counterfeit bill wrapped around a penny. The house where the marriage took place is the somewhat notorious "Vestris Bloom Depot," kept by a Mrs. Spencer, who is the widow of the [illegible] circus clown, Sylvester Spencer, commonly known as Syl. Spencer. It was a daughter of the widow Spencer, named Sarah, who acted the part of bride.

HIGHWAY ROBBERIES.—As John Curin, who resides in the upper part of the Twentieth Ward, was on his way home, at a late hour Saturday evening, he was intercepted, knocked down and robbed of a gold watch and his porte-monnaie, containing $15 in bills and gold. Quickly recovering from the blow he received, he pursued the robber, soon captured him, and recovered his property. The prisoner gave his name as Samuel Lattum, aged 21, and business that of a blacksmith. Justice BRENNAN, of the Fourth District Police Court, locked him up for trial. Two dead rabbits on Saturday night attacked Wm. Brennan in Baxter-street and robbed him of $12. George Spencer, one of the culprits, was subsequently arrested and locked up in the Tombs.

YOUNG BURGLARS ARRESTED.—Six youngsters, the oldest not yet 11, were arrested on Saturday charged with breaking into the office of Mr. Hines, in Thirtieth-street, breaking open a safe and stealing $40 in pennies and $16 in silver. They were found selling the pennies at considerable discount from their value. John Hedge and Thomas O'Neil, each 17, entered the house of Pauline Friedman, No. 32 Henry-street, and carried away a quantity of silver ware. Michael Kelley, 15, entered with a false key the dwelling-house No. 106 Eighth-street, and carried away about $35 worth of clothing. The batch of youthful burglars were all committed for examination.

Coroners' Inquests.

DEATH FROM OVERDOSE OF MORPHINE.—EMILE CLEPPER, a young German, has for some time past been taking morphine to enable him to sleep. On Saturday night he took an overdose and died during the night at the Westchester House, where he had taken lodgings. He was a clerk in Mr. [illegible]'s drug store in Fourth-avenue. Coroner O'KEEFE held an inquest upon the body, when the above facts were developed and a verdict rendered accordingly.

POISONED THROUGH CARELESSNESS.—JULIA SMITH, who resided at No. 41 Thomas-street, died yesterday from the effects of a solution of sugar of lead taken in mistake for other medicine. Coroner SCHIRMER held an inquest, and a verdict was rendered in accordance with the facts stated.

CHILD FATALLY SCALDED.—Coroner SCHIRMER yesterday held an inquest, at No. 134 Leonard-street, upon the body of ALFRED L. HOFFMAN, a child 2 years old, who died from scalds received from the accidental upsetting of a cup of boiling coffee. Verdict accordingly.

The Body-Snatching Case.

New-York, Saturday, March 12, 1859.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

A statement appeared in your paper, based upon an affidavit of FREDERICK LANE, of No. 13 William-street, before his Honor Mayor TIEMANN, to the effect that the Westcott Express Company had, without shadow of authority, taken from the steamer Florida a corpse, and spirited it away for the purpose of extorting a charge from the friends. The Mayor very properly cited the Company to an immediate investigation, which resulted as follows: Mr. GEORGE MITCHELL, one of the agents of the steamship line, appeared with Mr. WESTCOTT, and stated that we were ordered by them to take charge of and forward said body; that it was directed to Hamilton, Canada West; and that we accordingly delivered it to the American Express Company, No. 61 Hudson-street, which was the proper medium for forwarding it. The agents of the line acted from the purest motives, as it had remained upon the dock several days without being claimed, and it was supposed the direction upon it was intended as an order to forward. Certainly, the Express Company had no idea of body-snatching, as violently set forth by said LANE. It happened that Police Commissioner BULLMAN was in the Mayor's Office during the investigation, and voluntarily stated that he was present on the wharf when the Express driver was ordered by Mr. MITCHELL to take charge of and forward as directed. Whereupon, the Mayor dismissed the case; and as Mr. LANE has made no retraction, we respectfully request to be set right before the public.

Truly yours, WESTCOTT'S EXPRESS CO.,
No. 168 Broadway, New-York.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

Annual Report of the City Comptroller.

INTERESTING FACTS FOR TAX-PAYERS—"THE TWENTY-FIVE-DOLLAR ORDINANCE."

Mr. WM. B. LEWIS, Comptroller of Brooklyn, has recently prepared his annual statement of the financial department of the city for the last fiscal year. The Comptroller, in his communication to the Common Council, calls the attention of that body to some facts of interest, especially to tax-payers. He says the revenues for the last fiscal year have been in the aggregate all that was anticipated, and, were it not that some of the appropriations have been largely exceeded, there would not have existed the necessity of the passage of a law to enable the Common Council to pay off deficiencies amounting to some $27,000. There has been no necessity for such assistance from the Legislature since 1851, and then the authorities, as an apology for calling in such aid, changed the termination of the fiscal year from May to September. No excuse, says the Comptroller, can be offered for asking authority to make the present loan, because every dollar of it was incurred in open violation of one of the plainest provisions of the Charter, which reads as follows:

"And it shall not be lawful for the Common Council of the said city to borrow any money, or to enter into any contract, by which they may be compelled to pay money, except for the purposes for which they are or may be authorized to raise money by tax, and then only to an amount not exceeding the sum they are authorized by law to raise by tax during that municipal year, for the purposes for which such money may be borrowed or contract entered into."

The ordinances of the city follow this up by prohibiting any city officer from contracting debts on account of the city, unless an appropriation had previously been made for the specific purpose.

In discussing this matter the Comptroller says that it is not the amount of the deficiency but the principle involved which should arrest the attention of the authorities. If the principle will hold good in this instance, it would be equally binding if the deficiency were as large as the city debt.

"The Twenty-five Dollar Ordinance."—The report calls attention to the abuses existing under this ordinance. By it the Commissioner of Repairs and Supplies is authorized after having obtained the consent of the Mayor, to contract for repairs and supplies to the extent of $25. It not unfrequently occurs that an order is issued to John Doe to-day, directing him to furnish a certain article—say lumber for the corporation workshop—not to exceed $25 worth; on the next day or two days after, perhaps, another order is given to the same person for the same amount of material, and in this manner successive orders may issue until sufficient quantities have been obtained for an entire year's consumption. The same system is carried on in making repairs. A fire company want an engine-house repaired. The Commissioner, under this law, has expended $75 to $100 by ordering $25 worth of work at one time. The Comptroller says: "There are not isolated cases by any means, there are a number of them (bills) on file in the Department, and it were far better that the restriction be removed, and the Commissioner allowed to contract debts ad libitum, than see the ordinances thus evaded."

Bureau of Arrears.—The creating of a Bureau of Arrears is again urged, with the additional reasons that the Collector of Taxes will soon be called upon to receive arrears of water rents in addition to the great amount of arrears of taxes and assessments. Aside from the reasons now and heretofore urged for establishing this Bureau, the most forcible reason of all is, that under the present system there is no check kept upon the amount of arrears collected in any Department, either of the city or county.

Justices' Courts.—Of these Courts the Comptroller thus speaks: "The manner in which business was transacted in the Police and Justices' Courts up to the time of making my last report, and to which I called the earnest attention of your Honorable Body, has in a great measure been remedied: 1. By the interposition of Judge CULVER, in refusing to tax constables' bills; and, 2. By the influence of the Grand Jury, who have recently manifested a fraternal solicitude for the well-being of the Justices. These movements, being almost simultaneous, have not only corrected many abuses which heretofore existed, but have been the means of bringing thousands of dollars into the treasury which perhaps would have otherwise been diverted from its legitimate destination." He recommends that the duties of clerks be clearly defined by statutory provisions, and that the number of courts might well be reduced.

Outstanding Certificates.—The outstanding certificates, at 7 per cent. interest, payable "when the money shall have been collected and in the Treasury," amounts in the aggregate to $175,000. These certificates are issued to contractors for all classes of local improvements. The Comptroller thinks that if this system continues, and this class of city securities accumulates, it will be a serious drawback upon the revenue of the city and may eventually affect other securities of a most vital character. The payment for all contracts is recommended to be paid in cash. This would save to the assessed for local improvements of from twenty to twenty-five per cent., and would place the borrowing of money under the control of the city authorities just as [illegible] into a reflection upon the credit of the city [illegible] the whole of this $175,000 in certificates [illegible] hands of third parties? The Comptroller [illegible] the following points in favor of the cash system: "First. By controlling your own securities you protect the financial reputation of the city. Second. You relieve the parties assessed or taxed, and secure to them a more permanent and substantial class of improvements at a greatly reduced cost. Third. You will effectually kill off a class of men who are ever ready to take a mortgage upon a contractor's energies and necessities, to the great detriment of the public."

The gross receipts for the year were $3,880,459 12. The expenditures, with cash in the treasury amounting to $992,438 89, equals the receipts. The whole city debt is less than five per cent. on the amount of property as returned by the Assessor for the year 1858.

SUNDRIES.—SIGNOR [illegible], formerly manager for the RAVELS, died in Brooklyn Saturday last, at an advanced age.... An enterprising looking-glass manufacturer has furnished several of the ferry-boats of the Union Ferry Company, free of expense.... The work on the new ferries between New-York and the Eastern District of Brooklyn has fairly commenced, and there is a fair prospect that the assurance given by the lessees that the ferries will be in operation by the 1st of May, will be verified.... Mrs. LEE, residing at No. 154 Fourth-street, (Eastern District,) while filling a fluid lamp on Saturday evening last, was badly burned by the fluid taking fire. Her husband and her child, five months old, were burned at the same time, neither, however, seriously.... The fire was extinguished with a loss of only $100. Insured in the Fulton Insurance Company.... Coroner HORTON yesterday held an inquest on the body of PATRICK MEEHAN, at No. 65 Main-street. The deceased was 73 years old, and a native of Ireland. A verdict of death from consumption was rendered.... A woman whose name is unknown, was run over by a horse and cart in Atlantic-street, Saturday evening, and severely injured. She was taken home by some friends who were with her at the time of the accident.... Mr. JAS. T. WILDE has been elected President of the Kings County United Cricket Club. The other officers are: Vice-President—W. S. LESTER, Secretary—T. P. STACY, Treasurer—H. PARKER.... The American General Committee has issued a call for primary meetings to be held in the different wards to-morrow evening between the hours of 7½ and 8½ o'clock, to elect three delegates in each to a City Convention to nominate candidates for the office of Mayor, &c., to be filled at the approaching election.... A Post-Office has been established at Little Neck, L. I., in the town of Flushing, and JAS. A. CHAPMAN has been appointed to superintend it.... There were 294 persons treated at the Eastern District Dispensary during the month of February.

The new building will be constructed of brick, two stories high, and will cover the whole lot which is 30 feet front and extends back 86 feet. The front of the building will be made to correspond with the church edifice. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. KENNADY, will deliver a course of three lectures, to commence on the 17th inst., the proceeds of which will be appropriated towards furnishing the new Lecture-room when completed. At first the Society contemplated erecting a parsonage on the front of the lot and moving the house now upon it to the rear to be fitted up for a sexton's house, but different counsels have prevailed.

BRADSTREET'S COMMERCIAL REFERENCE BOOK.
FOR BANKERS AND BUSINESS MEN.

The Fourth Semi-annual Volume of this valuable work, which was published on the 15th of January, having been exhausted by a rapid and extensive demand, a second edition of said volume, revised and corrected, has been issued, and is now ready for delivery [illegible] work.

Several hundreds of the best Bankers and Merchants in the different cities of the Union have assisted in perfecting this REFERENCE RECORD, thus making it a cheap and reliable compend of the pecuniary condition and prospects, and business capacities of about [illegible] MERCANTILE FIRMS IN TWENTY-SIX OF THE PRINCIPAL CITIES AND CENTRES OF TRADE in the United States.

The New-York Merchant or Banker will ascertain by a Key accompanying the Book, the grade of credit, character, habits, and capital of such as will be likely to deal with him, while the out-of-town Merchant will learn with accuracy the exact foundation on which the New-York houses base their business.

To provide for any possible errors that might occur in a work so GIGANTIC IN DETAIL, and to keep purchasers informed of the changes that must necessarily take place, the proprietors issue A PRINTED SHEET OF CORRECTIONS EVERY WEEK.

The time and trouble such a work must save, the losses it must prevent, and the influence it must have in securing a sound and profitable trade, make it invaluable to Wholesale Merchants, Manufacturers, Note Brokers and Banks of Discount; and yet the whole, including the two Semi-annual Volumes, the Sheet of Corrections, and the facilities of the office, is furnished to subscribers at ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS per annum.

Full particulars, not embraced in this advertisement, may be obtained at the office of the Proprietors and Publishers.

KEROSENE OILS.
CAUTION.

In consequence of the continued efforts made by the manufacturers of dark-colored, strong-smelling and smoky coal oils to deceive the public by calling their oils "KEROSENE," it has become necessary to notify consumers that they ought to exact from the dealer a guaranty that he is selling the genuine oil. Care, also, should be taken to avoid the numerous explosive compounds of camphene and rosin oil offered in the market as COAL OIL or KEROSENE by interested parties, for the purpose of [illegible] KEROSENE, which has, of late, taken the place [illegible] in general use. [illegible] which they suspect to be a [illegible] of KEROSENE, will confer a favor by leaving a sample at the office of the Company, with the address of the seller, and if found to be an imitation, a suit will be commenced for the illegal use of the word KEROSENE, the trade mark of the KEROSENE OIL CO., No. 39 Beaver-st., N. Y.

A number of desirable houses in BROOKLYN, ranging from $2,000 to $25,000, to sell or exchange for Country Property.

Parties desirous of purchasing property at YONKERS can find upon my books very desirable residences, both small and large, and at prices to suit; varying from [illegible].

The peculiar beauty and healthfulness of YONKERS, together with its situation upon one of the most beautiful and picturesque rivers of the world, and its nearness to New-York, being accessible at all hours, render it the most advantageous for both a Summer retreat and a permanent residence, of any place within the vicinity of the City.

On the east side of the Hudson River I would offer residences at TARRYTOWN at $7,500, $10,000, $16,000, [illegible], $21,000, $25,000. The places vary from [illegible] of an acre to 30 acres, and most of them command fine views of the river for miles, both up and down, and being situated on high ground. They have consequently the advantage of cool breezes in Summer.

AT DOBBS' FERRY

I would offer a most desirable retreat for both Winter and Summer. The house is built of stone in the very best manner, and is 40x40. The grounds are well laid out with fruit of every description, has also a vineyard of 4,000 grape vines, together with 150 apple trees, all in full bearing. Two large graperies contain about 100 vines, yielding from 500 to 1,000 lbs. a season of the finest grapes, which sell in this City from $1 to $1 50 a lb. The place is complete in every way, outbuildings of every description, and the grounds are decked with most beautiful shade and ornamental trees.

AT SING SING.

A small farm of 6 acres, with fruit of every description, and under fine cultivation. Neat brick house with all necessary outbuildings, in short a little "gem of a place."

AT CROTON

A Flouring and Feed Mill, with 25 acres of ground well fruited; also good frame house, nearly new. The mill is now doing a good business.

AT PEEKSKILL

A small place within [illegible] mile of the dépôt, containing 1 acre with a showy 2-story house, 32x32, containing 12 rooms, fine walls, large cisterns, shade trees, young fruit trees. Fine view of the river and environs from the observatory. The house is in perfect repair.

ALSO, 16 acres on LAKE MAHOPAC road, with fine commodious house containing 20 rooms. Fine shade and fruit trees, 2 large fish-ponds, all necessary outbuildings. House is furnished, which, together with two span of horses, 4 cows, hogs and poultry will be sold or exchanged for City Property.

ALSO, a neat little cottage situated in the village, and containing 14 rooms; house is well-built and offers a pleasant residence for a man of moderate means.

AT POUGHKEEPSIE

A very desirable Farm, under fine cultivation, and covered with the choicest kinds of fruit, the present owner having devoted most of his time to its culture.

AT RED HOOK

[illegible] acres smooth and very productive land, situate about 2 miles from lower RED HOOK, has upon it a very thrifty bearing apple orchard, besides other fruit and ornamental trees, two flower gardens and extensive vegetable gardens. The buildings consist of a good house, 32x36, stables, well-filled ice-house, piggery, &c.

AT HUDSON PARK.

25 miles from New-York, a very handsome house and about 3 acres of ground. It lies immediately upon the river. The house has all the conveniences of a City residence. There are few places surpass this for beauty. On the west side of the Hudson I would offer places at COXSACKIE, NEWBURG, KINGSTON, HAVERSTRAW and NYACK, embracing both handsome residences and desirable Farms.

AT BETHEL, SULLIVAN CO., N. Y.,

Near WHITE LAKE, [illegible] miles from COCHECTON, on E. R. R., and [illegible] miles from MONTICELLO, the county seat, 250 acres, 75 cleared, the balance woodland; would make a fine stock raising Farm. New frame house, 35x27, 2-story and attic, new barn and outbuildings. Will exchange for a small place within 15 or 20 miles of this City.

AT ELM LAKE FARM, N. Y.,

At LAKE PLEASANT, known as the Rhinlander Mansion, situate 54 miles from SARATOGA, 75 miles from ALBANY, 50 from AMSTERDAM, [illegible] acres, [illegible] cleared. House frame, filled with brick; 16 rooms, wide hall; fine fishing and hunting on the place. Will be sold or exchanged, furnished complete and everything in complete order.

AT RYE

[illegible] acres of fine land, offering advantages for residences, being situate immediately on the Sound.

AT STRATFORD, CONN.,

A 2-story and basement frame house, 32x41, containing 9 rooms; lot 100x305, under new picket fence. Barn and wood-house, some fruit, good water. The appearance of the place is very striking, and is remarked as one of the "beauty spots" of the town. It is within 5 minutes of the dépôt.

ALSO, a very pleasant place containing [illegible] acres, with good house, and [illegible] mile of hard beach.

ALSO in CONNECTICUT residences at STAMFORD, BIRMINGHAM, DARIEN, FAIRFIELD and MIANUS.

Together with the above I would offer property in NEW-JERSEY and LONG ISLAND, at desirable localities, and parties wishing to purchase either Farms or small residences, cannot fail of being suited from an inspection of my books.

Full particulars of the above property, together with Maps and Views of many of the places can be seen at my office, No. [illegible], room 5.

"PATENT LIGHTS."
A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

Having been creditably informed that persons have on one or more occasions endeavored to injure our business by false and malicious statements to the effect that the vault light which we manufacture and sell is an infringement of letters patent granted to Mr. Thaddeus Hyatt, we hereby notify those persons to desist from such defamatory statements, as we shall hold them personally responsible for damages.

Letters patent for the vault light which we are manufacturing was granted June 22, 1858, and, should it be questioned, we are fully prepared to defend our rights in the premises, and to show that we are not infringing upon the rights of Mr. Hyatt or any one else.

Dr. HUNTER, No. 3 Division-st., offers to the public the only reliable remedy known in the wide world for the permanent cure and removal of every particle of the taint and poisonous virus of venereal disease, which is the genuine HUNTER'S RED DROP, made from the original recipe, in the possession of Dr. HUNTER and not known by any other person living except Dr. HUNTER, at No. 3 Division-st., one door from the Bowery, all the assertions of the many poisonous quacks to the contrary notwithstanding. Dr. H. has prepared every vial of this celebrated medicine with his own hands that has ever been offered for sale for the last thirty years, and has never intrusted any living person with the secret; consequently, everything offered for sale at any other place is a libel, a base and wicked counterfeit, got up by some unprincipled wretch that, for the sake of a dollar, would trifle with the lives of his fellow-men.

AFFAIRS AT ALBANY.

[illegible] Hospital Insurance [illegible] Bill Pass the House—No New Liquor [illegible]—The Registry Bill Ordered to a Third Reading, &c., &c.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ALBANY, Saturday, March 12, 1859.

What reform is to be wrought in the Metropolitan Police Law is a question of general interest, but no answer is ready. In the Senate the subject has been made a special order for Thursday next.

The Governor has sent in his third veto. A little bill emanating from Supervisor [illegible], of Kings County, and granting to the New-Utrecht fishermen liberty to drive their fish poles and set their nets in a certain portion of New-York Bay until June, 1860, his Excellency finds to be "obscurely drawn," and objectionable in its provisions. So on Saturday he vetoed it,—and the New-Utrecht fishermen who have sat for a month past with their seine needles in hand ready to knit at the word that the law would protect them against the state-pulling propensities of the Pilot Commissioners, must stretch their nets over their hen-houses, and let their scows warp and twist bottom-upward in the sun, while they go to farming or to sea. The disappointment to them will be great, still the objectionable features of the bill are obvious, and nobody will think of urging it in spite of the veto. As all who like to have shad cheap, and all who catch shad are interested—the two aggregating a host—probably you would like to print the message entire:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
ALBANY, March 14, 1859.

To the Senate:

I regret that I am obliged to return without my signature the bill entitled, "An act relating to fisheries in the town of New Utrecht, in the County of Kings." It is, however, not only obscurely drawn, but is so objectionable in its provisions, that I cannot give to it my approval. It provides that the inhabitants of New Utrecht may, until June, 1860, set pikes or hoop and pill nets, and drive poles and stakes in a certain portion of New-York Bay, from which they are now excluded by the law of 1857, establishing regulations for the port of New-York. This last-mentioned law, which is one of several that have been enacted within a few years for the preservation of the harbor of New-York, and the freedom of navigation therein, forbids the driving of any piles in water of greater depth than six feet at mean low tide. The present bill proposes to relax this restriction in favor of the inhabitants of a single town, and to allow them to place their nets and poles in a diagonal line through the middle of and across the principal channel of the harbor above the Narrows in water as deep as fifty feet. It is true the bill assumes to give the Harbor Commissioners a certain power to regulate the placing of the poles, but their powers, in fact, amount to nothing. The Commissioners are only authorized to bring the poles as much nearer the east shore of the Narrows as they shall decide is necessary to prevent their being a hindrance to safe navigation.

It is a little difficult to ascertain the precise intent of this provision. If, however, the Harbor Commissioners should exercise the power given to them, the utmost that they could do would be to carry the line to the shore of Staten Island at the Narrows. Should this be done it would perhaps be doubtful whether the inhabitants of New-Utrecht would not have the power to place stakes entirely across the channel, directly at the Narrows. However this may be, the bill certainly fails to give to the Harbor Commissioners any power to control the placing of the stakes anywhere to the east of the line mentioned in it. A reference to a map of the harbor will show that that portion of the harbor from which the supervisory power of the Commissioners is excluded, is a large and important portion, and one in which fish poles certainly ought not to be allowed to be placed unless there is some supervising power to regulate them.

It is probably a clerical error in the bill that it refers to a law of 1840 by its section, but omits to give the chapter of the laws of that year.

My objections to this bill are briefly that it gives rights that ought not to be granted to any one without control, and which I feel sure would not have been granted had the members of the Legislature examined the bill more carefully, and been more fully acquainted with the locality. But if granted to any one, the grant should not be limited to the inhabitants of a single town, and should be carefully defined by unambiguous provisions.

E. D. MORGAN.

In Assembly on Friday evening eleven bills had their third reading and were passed. Among them was the act Amending the Incorporation of the South Brooklyn Savings' Institution, and also the famous act for the punishment of certain offences. The House was quite thin when this was reached, but it was read and the vote taken in solemn silence. The ayes numbered 66. So this bill which from almost the first week of the session has been the biggest block under the wheels of legislation, is transported to the Senate Chamber.

To-day the bill in relation to the Croton Aqueduct was favorably reported by Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. [illegible] reported unfavorably on the bill to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors in the City of New-York. Upon the several bills on this subject referred to the Committee on the Internal Affairs of Towns and Counties, that Committee has held long and tedious sessions. It was a Temperance Committee, and if there had been any hope of passing a stringent Prohibitory law they would have reported a stringent bill with [illegible]. But as that was hopeless they have about determined not to tinker much the present leaky and rusty License Law. The bill regulating the sale of foreclosure cases, where lands are located in Kings County, was adversely reported by Mr. [illegible], and those incorporating the Flushing Point and New-York Steam Navigation Company and the Corpus Christi Company favorably by Mr. [illegible].

Senator DIVEN's joint resolutions, amending the Constitution relative to the Judiciary, and reorganizing the Court of Appeals, was briefly discussed, but at 12½ the Registry bill was the special order. Two hours were occupied in considering certain amendments, but, on reporting the bill to the House, and ordering its third reading, every one, with two exceptions, were rejected, and they probably will be stricken out on Monday. So the bill will pass, doubtless, on Tuesday next, almost as Mr. BROCKWAY offered it. The pure Americans and the Democrats pretty generally voted ayes to the more stringent amendments, while the pure and simple Republicans tried hard to make it looser and easier. The middle men prevailed, however, and the bill is quite tight enough to make a good many old farmers swear—who have not sworn before for years—to get their votes in, though they were born in the election district where they shall offer them. As it gives to the Inspectors of Election the registering of votes, it is probable that a bill will be introduced soon, enabling the Supervisors in New-York to appoint the Inspectors.

MONDAY, March 14—A. M.

The business at the Stock Exchange during the past week was marked by more than the usual irregularity in prices, with frequent changes in the tone of the dealings. After the announcement of the Foreign news on Thursday, the disposition was to stronger prices, but the next day a fresh demonstration was made against the Western Road Shares, and this continued through the early session of Saturday. The extreme fluctuations of the week on this department of the list are equal to 3 ℘ cent. on Cleveland and Toledo; 4 ℘ cent. on Michigan Southern Common stock; 2 ℘ cent. on the Guaranteed; 2 ℘ cent. on Rock Island, and 2¼ on Galena. The final closing shows a recovery from the extreme depression of 1@1½ ℘ cent., and in the case of Toledo of 3 ℘ cent. The fluctuations in New-York Central were also repeated, though not so violent—the highest 80¾, the lowest 79¼, closing 80¼ ℘ cent. Erie, after receding to 10, recovered to 11¼ ℘ cent., and the Common Bonds of the Company were something firmer at the close. Pacific Mail opening at 76 dropped at one time to 74¼ and soon recovered again to 76, and finally on Saturday advanced to 79½ ℘ cent. The certificates on the Stock have become quite scarce, while a large number of short contracts made on the formal announcement of the VANDERBILT opposition about the 1st of February soon fall due, some of them as low as 69@70 ℘ cent., others from 74 to 78 ℘ cent. Reading turned downward on Friday, after having ruled steady, but inactive for some days previous. The change brought with it a new activity on Saturday, when a large amount of contracts 10 to 60 days were taken for the Bull account in Philadelphia, at 47 to 47½, and in the afternoon the cash Stock advanced to 49@49½ ℘ cent. The following is the general

The new Federal Loan holds steady in price, but without decided movement. In State Stocks there is a rise of nearly 1 ℘ cent. in Virginias and Tennessees, and a steady request for Missouris. Some irregularity in the issue of the new California State Bonds of 1858, whereby the question of the liability of the State for Bonds issued through the mistake of its accounting officers, on fraudulent scrip or warrants of the old issue, has come up, caused a decline of 2 ℘ cent. on Saturday. The amount in dispute is said to be moderate, but as the numbers of the disputed Bonds have not yet been published, and the principle itself of throwing the loss upon third parties, wholly innocent of the fraud, is not a very popular one, the decline in the whole issue is not surprising. Holders, however, might do as well by waiting the explanations from California, by the mail of 19th February, now due.

The Foreign Trade at the port of New-York during the past week was again quite active in the Import entries, and also to a fair amount in the Export clearances. The former, including the Dry Goods table in our last paper, aggregate $4,532,436, as against $1,767,954 same week last season. The Exports of Domestic Produce and Miscellaneous Goods are $1,484,214, against $1,074,398 same week last season, and of Specie, $307,106, against $225,274 same week last March. The Sub-Treasury was increased during the week by the transfer of Gold from Bank in exchange for the Government Stock awarded on the 24th of January, to $8,677,357, against $7,145,928 at the close of the previous week. This difference of $1,531,417 will probably tell to a considerable extent against the Specie average at Bank to be made up this afternoon. The same cause will probably make in favor of the Discount line, as part of the money transferred to the Government office was directly loaned from Bank on the Public Stock received in Exchange. The receipts of Mexican Silver from New-Orleans, and of Gold from the neighboring cities, will more than balance the moderate shipment to Europe and the West Indies. This week, the California packet of Feb. 19 will afford a supply of Bullion to meet any export demand that may appear for the Cunard steamer on Wednesday. The Exchanges are steady at 109¾ on London, and f.5.12½ on Paris, bankers, and 109@109½, and f.5.16¼@f.5.13¾, for merchant bills. The market for Money during the week worked easy, particularly on demand loan and short mercantile bills. The terms range 4 to 5 ℘ cent. at call, or on short notice, and 5 to 7 ℘ cent. as the range for discounts, 60 days to 6 months.

According to the Custom-house returns of the Foreign Trade at this port, which we published in summary form, by months, a few days since, the Import entries for eight months of the current fiscal year to Feb. 28, were

The mails by the Arabia at Boston, from Liverpool, to Saturday, Feb. 26, were delivered at the New-York Post-Office late on Saturday afternoon. In reference to American Stocks, Mr. E. F. SATTERTHWAITE writes:

> "The Market for American Securities has, during the past week, been very firm, the demand being chiefly confined to the best classes. Several lots of United States 5 ℘ cent. Bonds, 1874, have been taken at 95. Pennsylvania Stocks and Bonds in demand, and scarce. We note purchases of New-York Central Bonds at full rates, and of Pennsylvania Central First and Second Mortgage Bonds; for the latter 94 has been paid; also of Erie Second Mortgage Bonds, which are wanted by parties desirous of securing the fresh sheets of Coupons for five years. For Illinois Free Lands there is a fair demand, whilst Construction Bonds and Shares have been dull, though at the close there is a strong demand for Construction Bonds at 80. Canceled Bond Scrip has been dealt in to a considerable extent at 1¾; it closes 1¾ to 2. Michigan Central Bonds are in demand at advanced rates. Money very plentiful at 2 to 2¼ ℘ cent."

The return from the Bank of England for the week ending the 23d of February gives the following results, when compared with the previous week:

Public Deposits	£7,819,784	Increase.	£190,529
Other Deposits	14,617,172	Increase.	78,274
Rest	3,302,224	Decrease.	87,097

Other Securities	16,256,785	Decrease.	185,705

The amount of notes in circulation is £20,338,485, being a decrease of £150,860, and the stock of bullion in both departments is £19,952,548, showing an increase of £205,394, when compared with the preceding return.

The London Times reports as follows of the mammoth Steamship Great Eastern, and the prospect of running her under joint-stock auspices:

> "The first meeting of the Great Ship Company was held this morning, Mr. CAMPBELL, M. P., in the chair. The Company are now the registered owners of the Great Eastern, having purchased her from the Eastern Steam Navigation Company, at a cost of £165,332. Of this sum £161,462 has been paid in shares and money. The proprietors of the old undertaking have shown extraordinary unanimity in coming into the new scheme, and in many cases have largely increased their holdings. The total of shareholders is 2,201, and the list includes persons of all classes, from leading merchants and bankers, members of Parliament, and scientific men, to domestic servants. The completion of the ship is expected in August, and, although the necessary contracts have not yet been entered into, tenders have been received from houses of the highest respectability. It was observed that in the event of the ship being successful India and England will be independent of Egypt for intercommunication. At Portland, in America, about £25,000 have been expended for a wharf in anticipation of her arrival, and it is still proposed that her first trip shall be to that place, unless, considering the present position of affairs, she should be required for military purposes."

The death of Mr. ABEL SMITH, the head of the large London banking firm of SMITH, PAYNE & SMITHS, is announced. Mr. SMITH was in Parliament (says the Times) for a period of between 30 and 40 years; and, during a considerable portion of the time, sat for Hertfordshire, where his loss will be greatly felt. His age was 71, and he had lately retired from public life.

The Cotton and Consol quotations by telegraph to the hour of the sailing of the Arabia, heretofore published, are later and higher than anything in the papers and circulars by the mail. Of the Manchester Cotton trade, Messrs. WRIGHT, Jr. & Co. say:

> "Manchester trade is scarcely so buoyant in feeling, though consumption is fully supported by contracts extending over space, which imparts firmness to prices of both goods and yarns, and the Indian demand keeping active, and likely to enlarge since the termination of the war in Oude, encourages hopeful future anticipations, which, however, are neutralized by the abatement in demand for the Continent, and the promise of the largest estimates of Cotton crop being realized."

The Miner's Journal of Saturday reports of the Coal trade:

> "The trade sums up this week as follows, showing an increase for the week of 12,148 tons over the corresponding week last year, and 161,967 tons for the year, independent of the Shamokin region, from which we have no returns to compare with last year:

AMERICAN SOLIDIFIED MILK,
DRIED AND GRANULATED FROM PURE MILK,
AT THE
AMERICAN SOLIDIFIED MILK WORKS,
NEAR AMENIA, DUTCHESS COUNTY, N. Y.

Much of the milk used in New-York is the product of DISEASED COWS, fed on poisonous slops from distilleries. Much of it is mixed and adulterated with deleterious materials, and all that is brought from the Country is greatly changed and injured, so as to become un-wholesome (as compared with pure milk) [illegible], especially for children, by the agitation [illegible] its carriage to the City.

PURE, healthy, unadulterated Dutchess County Milk can be obtained by all who desire it, as the following testimonials from the highest medical and other authorities will abundantly show:

EXTRACTS FROM A REPORT TO THE
NEW-YORK ACADEMY OF MEDICINE.

The New-York Academy of Medicine authorized the Standing Committee on Public Health to examine and report upon the Solidified Milk. They visited the factory, spending a whole day in its inspection, and a long time upon subsequent experimentation with the Solidified Milk. From their report, of twelve printed pages, the following extracts have been made:

"As an article of food, under all circumstances of life, civilized and barbarian, in infancy and in age, in sickness and in health, MILK is at once a luxury and a necessity; and it is remarkable that, being such, it, of all the sources of man's sustenance, should be the most susceptible of spontaneous decomposition—and this, not so much from the influence of the atmosphere, or any other external agent, upon it, as from its own innate tendency, arising from its complicated and peculiar organization—a few hours, and in warm weather even a few minutes, being sufficient to change its constituent character. Any method to preserve the integrity and nutritive qualities of milk, so that it may be available at any time as diet, must, therefore, if successful, be regarded as among the most interesting and valuable of the gifts of science to humanity.

It is a matter of no little satisfaction, therefore, to your Committee to be able to state to the Academy their belief, derived from a very thorough examination of the whole subject, that the difficulties to the consummation of this most desirable object have at length been entirely overcome, and that henceforth we may, under all circumstances, in any position, and at any time, be supplied with pure milk in a very convenient form.

* * * * * *

Your Committee have perhaps said all that is necessary to satisfy the Academy that the article before us is not only available as a SUBSTITUTE for milk, but that it is in fact PURE MILK ITSELF, with the addition of sugar only. There is no loss of any nutritive material, a fact of which we can always be assured, for the article cannot be produced except from PURE milk, as any change in the character of the original fluid, either by spontaneous decomposition or otherwise, must spoil the result. So any dilution of the fluid by water must only lengthen the process of manufacture and endanger the issue. On the other hand, the more abundant the nutritive ingredients of the milk, in other words, the less the proportion of water, the more speedy and certain is the process, and the better the result. In an economical point of view, therefore, there is every inducement for the use of the purest material in the manufacture.

* * * * * *

But as an article of diet in sickness considerations of economy become insignificant in comparison with purity and high nutritive character, and your Committee deem it but a duty to their fellow-practitioners to call their attention to it, as a valuable adjunct in the sick-room, especially in the convalescence of children. Respectfully submitted."

THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION appointed one of the most eminent physicians in the country, Dr. N. S. Davis, of Chicago, to report on the best means of preserving milk. Accordingly, at its next session, an elaborate report on solidified milk was presented, from which the following is extracted:

"The very high ratio of mortality among children, in all our large cities, is a fact familiar to all; and, though many causes may combine to produce this result, yet long-continued and careful observation has satisfied your Committee that, among them, none are more prolific of evil than the defective supply of pure milk. The dairies, which are kept within the environs of large cities, and on which the citizens chiefly depend, are subject, generally, to so much confinement and unwholesome food, that both the cows and the milk become diseased and impure, even when no adulterations are resorted to by the dealers.

* * * * * *

Having subjected the Solidified Milk to a rigid investigation, I will hereby briefly add the results of my own observations and experiments.

When perfectly dissolved in water, in the proportion of three ounces to the pint, and examined under a microscope, NO DIFFERENCE COULD BE DETECTED BETWEEN IT AND FRESH MILK, except the presence of granules of sugar in the former.

* * * * * *

Having obtained none but the most satisfactory results from the microscopic and chemical examinations, I next directed my attention to its use as an article of food for the sick and the well. I caused three children under two years of age to be fed almost exclusively on the American Solidified Milk, dissolved in water, for two weeks in succession. THE RESULTS WERE IN EVERY RESPECT AS FAVORABLE AS WHEN THE SAME CHILDREN WERE FED ON THE BEST QUALITY OF COW'S MILK. I also embraced some opportunities to use the article for the nourishment of young infants who were deprived of milk from the breast of the mother, and who were found incapable of being nourished on such milk as were furnished by the milkmen of the City.

IT IS SUFFICIENT TO OBSERVE THAT ALL MY EXPERIMENTS, CALCULATED TO TEST THE NUTRITIVE QUALITIES AND DIGESTIBILITY OF THE ARTICLE, HAVE LED TO HIGHLY SATISFACTORY RESULTS.

And hence your Committee do not hesitate to recommend it as a reliable substitute for milk procured by the methods in ordinary use, not only on ships at sea, and during long voyages over land, but also as an article for general use in all large cities.

Letter from the late Dr. E. K. Kane, who used the "Solidified Milk" on both Expeditions:

DEAR SIR: I have given a careful trial to the specimens of granulated milk subjected to my notice. I do not hesitate to say that it is the most concentrated and enduring, as well as palatable, preparation of preserved milk which I have ever used.

Respectfully, your obedient servant, E. K. KANE.

I am happy to congratulate you on the success of your experiments, and trust that the article may meet with the approval of the public, which it justly merits.

Yours, very respectfully,
R. OGDEN DOREMUS, M. D.,
Prof. Chemistry, New-York Medical College,
Prof. Chemistry, N. Y. College Pharmacy.

COLUMBIA COLLEGE, East 49th-st., New-York,

I should say "Solidified Milk" no more needed recommendation than solidified water in dog-days; but if anybody has scruples upon the subject, you can refer him to me. Very sincerely yours,
CHARLES A. JOY, P. D.,
Professor of Chemistry.

CAMP SCOTT, U. T., May 31, 1858.

It is the best substitute for fresh milk, (and I have tried several,) that I have ever used, and its portability renders it invaluable to those whose circumstances place them beyond the reach of dairies, or limit them in their means of transportation.

NEW-YORK, Dec. 15, 1858.

DEAR SIR: The "American Solidified Milk," put on board the U. S. sloop Marion, was found to have retained all its qualities when opened on the Coast of Africa, and I have no hesitation in pronouncing it the best article of the several kinds of prepared milk I have ever used.

Yours, &c., EDWARD E. STONE, Lieut. U. S. N.
